LOWER RATES ARE WANTED

Press Conference Tries to Cheapen Inter-Empire News Service

REDUCTION OFFERED ON PACIFIC CABLE

Resolution in Favor of State-owned System Crossing Atlantic

London, June 25.—The Imperial press conference met today to consider the report of the committee appointed at its opening session to consider the matter of cable rates. Hon. H. L. W. Lawson presided. The chairman submitted the committee's recommendation, which urged the governments of the empire to increase their efforts towards obtaining a reduction in imperial electric communication rates. Mr. Asquith, premier of Great Britain, introduced a deputation. It also emphasized the necessity of linking up the different parts of the empire with a wireless service.

One positive result, said Mr. Lawson, had been reached. Mr. Baxendale, on behalf of the Pacific Cable board, having stated that the board would reduce their rates on press messages by one half if the New Zealand government would do the same regarding terminal charges. It is believed, Mr. Lawson added, that the Australian government will do the same. Continuing, Mr. Lawson said it was the general opinion that nothing would meet the necessities of the case except a general reduction in press rates.

It was resolved that the committee, with the addition of Lord Northcliffe, J. W. Daffoe, of the Winnipeg Free Press, Mr. Spender, of the New Westminster Gazette, Mr. Donald, of the Chronicle, and others should wait upon Mr. Asquith. The other recommendations of the committee adopted. Moberley Bell, of the London Times pointed out that the concessions by the Pacific Cable Board would reduce the press rate from 1s. to 9d. Mr. Bell added that the Canadian authorities would also be asked by the board to reduce their charges.

E. D. Ross, Ottawa, reintroduced his resolution favoring state-owned electric communication between Canada and Great Britain, remarking that in view of the possibility of wireless telegraphy he was perhaps making a great mistake if he used the words "state-owned cable." (Hear, hear.) He thought the governments of Canada and Great Britain should consider the matter immediately, as Mr. Marconi had informed the committee this morning that in August next he would be able to give a service of 15,000 words daily at half the cable rates. (Hear, hear.) It was stated, however, that the reduction in rates. Rates were kept high in combines. The representative of the Anglo-American Co. had informed Moberley Bell that his company was willing to reduce press rates one-half, but could not because of arrangements with other companies.

Mr. Fenwick, director of the Otago Times and Witness, Wellington, N.Z., seconded the resolution, pointing out the appropriateness of such a reduction coming from a Canadian.

Mr. Temperley, of New South Wales, said it would be the duty of Newfoundland to contribute to cost of such a scheme.

Mr. Marconi thought it would be inadvisable for governments to enter into a scheme of state-owned cables without first investigating the merits of wireless communication. The cost of equipping two stations for communicating over a distance already tested of 3000 miles will be £100,000. The speed of transmission at present was 25 words a minute, but by duplexing he hoped to make it 50. (Applause.) If the service increased his company would be prepared to reduce the cost of press messages to two-pence a word. (Applause.)

Kiffin Thomas, of Adelaide, and Thomas Cunningham also of Australia opposed the resolution. They pointed out the danger of cable companies also gaining a monopoly of wireless telegraphy.

Mr. Brierley, of Montreal, said this was very largely a Canadian question. The reduction announced by the Pacific Cable Board was the strongest argument in favor of Mr. Ross' resolution. They could not look for a reduction across the Atlantic under present circumstances. They should not pay exorbitant rates in respect to the question of competition with companies. How long would it be tolerable for Canadians to pay fivepence across the Atlantic while Australians were paying twopence across the Pacific?

Mr. Daffoe said that what they wanted was a rate of five cents a word. If by wireless, well and good, if not then by cable. (Applause.) The shortest road to get that rate was by a state-owned cable. (Hear, hear.) This, he declared, was an imperial question in its widest aspect and significance and while being tender towards vested interests, let them not forget the rights of the public. (Applause.)

J. A. Macdonald, of Toronto, remarked that he had no fear of Socialism and no sensitiveness for companies either here or in Canada. The papers in Canada paid for all they got and sometimes for things they did not get. (Laughter.) He was prepared to vote for the resolution, knowing that the system of Mr. Marconi will probably be in full working order before the governments would do anything. It certainly would be longer than August before they got to work. (Laughter.) He agreed with Mr. Daffoe that this was an imperial question and remarked that every Canadian paper not entangled in some telegraphic company was in favor of the resolution. (Applause.)

Mr. Daffoe seconded the resolution, Mr. Temperley withdrawing at the request of the chairman. Thirty-six voted for the resolution and none against.

It was also agreed that the deputation should bring the matter before Mr. Asquith.

Maitland Park proposed a resolution in favor of state-owned electric communication with South Africa. He said the Union government would certainly give a subsidy for the purpose. This was also carried.

Mr. Nelson, of Victoria, B. C., then pointed out that Mr. Baxendale's offer depended on a reduction in terminal rates by the New Zealand and Australian governments and moved a resolution urging upon those governments the desirability of co-operation. This was carried unanimously. Sir Hugh Graham moved a resolution concerning immigration. He said there was not a question of greater importance than the maintenance of British sentiment in Canada, which was the keystone of the imperial arch. The majority of the population in Canada was overwhelmingly British. Canada wanted good people from all lands, but wanted more of them from Britain. He announced that a serious effort would be made in Canada to commemorate the conference by organizing an association of leading journalists and public-spirited citizens to strengthen and stimulate the existing organizations in order that desirable immigrants may receive the utmost encouragement. He moved a resolution to the effect that the press should co-operate in the wise direction of emigration. (Hear, hear.) Mr. Macdonald gave the proposition the heartiest sympathy. Mr. Nelson, of Winnipeg, declared that the foreign immigrants in Western Canada as citizens were absolutely all right. (Hear, hear.) The resolution was carried unanimously.

MAKES SPEED WITH TARIFF

Senate Puts in Busy Day on Schedules—More Duties Are Elevated

Washington, June 25.—This was another of the United States Senate's active working days, and by the time the session closed at 7 o'clock so many resolutions had been considered and disposed of that Mr. Aldrich freely predicted that by tomorrow night all of them would be out of the way. Leaving the Senate free to begin consideration of the corporation tax and income tax amendments at the commencement of proceedings next week, and to follow these with the administrative features of the bill.

Beginning the day's session with an increase of five per cent over the house rate of 35 per cent ad valorem on harness, the Senate marched steadily through the nine hours of its sitting, indulging in very little speech making and acting upon many important provisions.

Among the changes made were an increase on the duty of scrap iron from 50 cents to $2.50 per ton, thus placing upon the same level as pig iron, an increase of a quarter of a cent per pound over the house rates on wire nails, an increase from four to six cents a pound on monazite and thorite, and other articles used in the manufacture of gas mantles, and the substitution of specific for ad valorem rates on files, rasps, etc.

Towards the close of the day Senator Penrose, of the finance committee, but not specifically for the committee, presented an amendment fixing a duty of half a cent per gallon on crude oil, and after considerable debate it was agreed to.

During the day the linoleum and oil-cloth schedule was recast to apparently meet the demands of the insurgents, and was adopted with the understanding that if it should not be satisfactory upon inspection in the record the schedule could be reopened tomorrow.

The principal debate of the day was on petroleum, linoleum, and scrap iron. Mr. Crawford declaring that it was "protection gone mad." The provision was also criticised by Senators Cummins and Beveridge. It, however, found defenders in Senators Oliver, Dick, and Aldrich. There were many efforts to amend the scrap iron and pig iron provisions, but they were adopted without change.

Senator Penrose spoke at length in support of his oil amendment, declaring that it met the approval of the independent producers and refiners. The oilfields of Mexico figured extensively in this discussion. Senator Gore declared that they were a myth.

On the eve of adjournment for the day Senator Aldrich presented the corporation tax amendment approved by President Taft, stating that he hoped that the Senate would be in a position to take it up for consideration on Monday.

END OF CHASE BRINGS DEATH

Robert Eastman, Suspected of Murder in Maryland, Takes His Own Life

SUFFERS TORTURES ELUDING OFFICERS

Strange Murder Case, With Speedy Punishment for Assassin

St. Michaels, Md., June 25.—No pursuit of an accused assassin was ever attended by more thrilling picturesque surroundings than that which ended in the death of James Robert Eastman, who had been known during his short residence here as Emmet E. Roberts. Eastman had simply transposed his name from Robert Emmet Eastman to Emmet E. Roberts.

The man disappeared late on Wednesday evening, following the discovery of the body and its identification. Suspicion had pointed to him from the very first, for he was the person with whom the girl had last been seen. Eastman made efforts to leave McDaniel on Wednesday, but was warned that he had better remain to refute the charges that were being made against him. Saying he could be found at his bungalow when wanted, Eastman disappeared. A missing skiff from the home of a neighbor told the story of his flight.

All day Thursday sheriff's posses were on the search but no trace of the missing man could be found. Last night, however, John W. McQuay, who lives four miles from McDaniel, on Harris creek, one of the estuaries of Chesapeake Bay, arrived, and then began the stealthy trailing of Eastman through the water to his doom. For hour after hour, Eastman, suffering the tortures of the damned, for want of food and water during the night and day of his hiding in the marshes of the many shallow streams which put in from the bay, tried to shake off his pursuers.

Clad in a blue flannel shirt and dark trousers, he was a far less conspicuous figure than the member of the sheriff's crew, who all wore white shirts.

In and out of the winding stream Eastman led the way. He was making for McDaniel, near the head of the creek, where he hoped to steal a team and escape. His rowing became more and more painful, and his progress was slow at last, and the pursuers passed him in the darkness. Not sure that the men in the other boat were really on his trail, Eastman continued up stream until at last he had reached a point just off the home of Colonel Thompson and of the girl who had met death while with him. Here the stream narrows sharply, and the spot was selected by the posse to make a stand. From the tall grasses of the shore they called to Eastman to surrender. Twice the call was repeated without a reply. Then came the flash and report of a revolver.

It had been aimed by Eastman at his own heart, and the bullet had done its work. Thinking the shot had been sent at them in an attempt to resist arrest, the posse returned the fire, and claimed at first that it was the fusillade (Continued on Page 2.)

TWO CHANGES IN MINISTRY

Resignations Supposed to Be Due to Disapproval of Budget

London, June 25.—The resignations of two members of the government announced tonight. Ostensibly they were in connection with the budget, but it is suspected that they were due partly to disapproval of the budget.

Lord Fitzmaurice as chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster is succeeded by Herbert Louis Samuel under secretary for home affairs, who thus is promoted to cabinet rank.

Thomas R. Buchanan, parliamentary secretary of the Indian office is succeeded by the Master of Elibank, Alexander William Charles Oliphant Murray.

C.P.R. OFFERS REWARD

The C. P. R. has offered a reward of $5,000 for the arrest and conviction of the four train robbers who held up the C. P. R. express at Midnight, Tuesday last, seven miles east of Ducks station. Last night Superintendent of Provincial Police Hussey received a wire from Kamloops to the above effect. This amount together with the rewards offered by the provincial government, $2,500, sets a price of $7,500 upon the heads of the bandits.

MRS. GOULD WINS

Gets Decree of Separation and Increase of Alimony to $36,000 a Year

New York June 25.—Justice Dowling today granted Mrs. Howard Gould a separation from her husband and alimony of $36,000 a year. Justice Dowling in his decision said that all the evidence was in favor of Mrs. Gould, and that the conduct of Mrs. Gould when she was alleged to have been intoxicated might have been caused by excitement. The justice disposed of the allegations concerning Mrs. Gould's meetings with Dustin Farnum by saying that they all occurred since Mr. and Mrs. Gould separated, and that Mr. Gould had never objected to them.

A stay of 30 days in the execution of the judgment was granted.

This decision means only an increase from $25,000 to $36,000 a year for Mrs. Gould. "I would rather have the vindication than the money," said Mrs. Gould as soon as Justice Dowling finished his decision. "That is why I insisted upon a public trial. I guess people know now what I have had to put up with. This verdict is worth more to me than any money they could give me."

Domestic Express Appointments.

Winnipeg, June 25.—G. Ford, superintendent of the Dominion Express Company, Winnipeg, has been appointed general superintendent of all lines west of Fort William, and W. M. Gordon, local manager here, has been appointed superintendent of the western division, with headquarters at Winnipeg.

Harder to Borrow in London.

London, June 25.—The lists closed today for the Canadian Northern Ontario $300,000 sterling, four per cent debentures, offered at 92. The public took only 9 per cent, leaving 91 per cent with the underwriters. The stock is now at a discount of 4 to 5 per cent. The result is attributed partly to the fact that the issue so closely follows other loans also that the loan is based on estimates of a railway mostly non-existing.

ROAD MYSTERY IN NOVA SCOTIA

Long Stretches of Highway Near Town of Antigonish Disappear

Halifax, N. S., June 25.—Great stretches of road are disappearing from the highway six miles from the town of Antigonish, and the people are greatly alarmed.

The first cave-in occurred two weeks ago, when a section fifty feet long by twenty wide, disappeared, carrying a telephone pole down far out of sight. No sooner had this opening been filled with brick and stone than another cave-in took place, when a strip of road 100 feet long disappeared. The hole made on this occasion was forty feet deep and thirty feet wide. The cave-in is now filled with water.

The road commissioner went to the scene from Halifax, and while he was investigating another portion of the road, fifteen feet long by ten in width, disappeared, and next day still another 200 feet from the first cave-in sank from view. The international railway track is also affected, the rails having settled over a foot in two places.

The road commissioner says subterranean waters are dissolving the plaster far beneath the road, and that the district will eventually become a large lake. It has been decided to build 200 feet of new highway to the rear of what the people consider a death trap, and which is very dangerous.

ARRESTED AT NAKUSP

Man Supposed to Have Escaped From Folsom Taken in Charge by Chief Devitt

Nakusp, B. C., June 25.—An important arrest was made here today by Chief of Police Devitt after the arrival of the steamer Rosalia. The man is supposed to be Michael McKenna, alias Lyons, who escaped from the state prison at Folsom, Cal., on March 29 while serving a twelve-year sentence for robbery. The description of the arrested man tallies most minutely with that of the convict, even to the tattoo marks on his left wrist.

Mr. Devitt was a passenger on the steamer from Robson last night, and became suspicious of his man at first sight. He claimed to be on his way to Nakusp to work as a deck hand on the steamer. He was brought before Walter Scott, J. P., who remanded him for eight days, pending instructions from California.

DOMINIONS AND EMPIRE

Lord Milner's View of What Should Be Done at Defence Conference

HOME GOVERNMENT SHOULD OFFER PLAN

Colonel Denison Speaks of Canadian Sentiment in This Matter

London, June 25.—The Imperial Defence Conference opens on Monday next and Lord Milner is speaking on the subject at the Compatriots' Club dinner last night observed that the Dominions overseas meant business and the more courageous and more comprehensive the proposals made by the home government the more likely they would be to succeed.

To each dominion overseas must be assigned some vitally important benefit and function in a general scheme of defence.

Lieut. Col. Denison, of Toronto, speaking as the guest of the club, in responding to the toast of his health, spoke of imperial defence as now the subject of the time had come for something to be done. He thought Canada should be represented in the front line of battle with the finest ships that could be built. If Canada could not build Dreadnoughts now she could pay for them. She could better afford to double her debt than to run the risk of seeing the Empire go under.

Canada should also train a naval reserve of 10,000 men. Canadians were far in advance of the politicians who were afraid of their own shadow. The Canadian navy would be popular with professional politicians for it would give them great patronage control.

Lord Milner's Speech.

Lord Milner, at the Compatriots' Club, said: If the conference ends in a fizzle, as other conferences have done, or though resulting in practical proposals yet nothing practical is done, it will not be because the people are not willing and earnest, but because their rulers are incapable of devising or agreeing on means to give effect to this popular desire. It is for the statesmen of the Motherland to show the way.

The problem requires very sympathetic and well instructed handling, for behind the unanimity of spirit the dominions, which is so impressive, lie many local differences and different attitudes, and above all is the supreme necessity of remembering that this problem concerns a number of independent states, controlling their own destiny. Any scheme to be successful must be devised on lines not only acceptable to them now, but along which we can continue to march together in the future; but no scheme will be adequate to the circumstances of the time, or worthy of the spirit shown by the dominions unless it assigns to each of them important and substantial functions in a general plan of imperial defence. The time has come for comprehensive and courageous proposals from the imperial government. It is not as if we were asking the dominions to take up a part of the imperial burden. It is the desire of the dominions themselves, and the last thing that would meet their approval would be to suggest, though it might be only out of consideration for them, that they undertake so petty and altogether trifling duties and be treated as children to be amused with mere show, while all the real work is left to the United Kingdom. Discussion may modify any proposals so far as there would be no vestige of dictation. In proposing them nobody dreams of imposing—indeed it would be quite impossible to impose any duty upon the dominions from without. Nothing can be exacted from any of them unless it commends itself to the free judgment of its people. Some of the dominions may not accept the role proposed to them in any common scheme of imperial defence, though I think it unlikely, but the British government will have done its duty by giving a clear and unmistakable lead. It must be left to those men in each dominion who are in sympathy with the imperial idea to see to it that no petty objections, no narrow particularism or antiquated prejudice, above all no local party bickerings, are allowed to prevent their country from taking an honorable part in upholding the security and prestige of the British Empire.

Lord Milner's speech attracts much attention. The feeling here is widespread that Lord Milner was right when he said that the movement in the British dominions was no passing ebullition of patriotic sentiment, but a popular movement of unmistakable earnestness in favor of such a combination throughout the Empire as would remove any foreign menace to British naval supremacy.

Secretaries of Legations. Washington, June 25.—The President today nominated Jordan Herbert Stabler, of Maryland, and Philip Hoelle, of Missouri, as secretaries of legations of the United States at Quito, Ecuador, and Madrid, Spain, respectively.

CLERICUS FINISH LABORS OF YEAR

Next Meeting Place Will Be in Seattle—Addresses
Delivered

The clericus at his session yesterday morning decided that Seattle should be the next place of meeting.

The Rev. G. H. Flennes-Clinton spoke upon the subject "Work Amongst Men." The Bishop of Oregon had been slated to speak upon this subject but in his absence Mr. Clinton gave the most practical remarks respecting this work, giving his experience in several departments. He referred in stirring terms to the great work of the miners' priest and friend, the late Father "Pat" of Rossland. The late Rev. Henry Irwin, the English church minister of this place, had derived his great power from the fact that he was in sympathy with the men among which he lived. His self denial was the root of this. The speaker touched upon the work among seamen, of which there was no class more responsive or more appreciative plain truths. He divided parish work into five heads, namely, work amongst men of business, clerks, artisans, men of leisure, "other tramps." In each part he submitted some most useful suggestions, saying they all had souls, that they were all responsive to the truths of religion in the hands of tactful priests. He dwelt upon the duty of the clergy on holiday movements and pointed that they should not put off the cassock on account of a holiday.

The Bishop of Olympia spoke of plain speaking. This must be the end as well as the beginning of work amongst men. Men do not want literary and scientific productions. They wanted plain sermons telling them they were sinners. The clergy should not look for results. God will take care of that.

Archdeacon Beer stated that this subject was of more importance than the Higher Criticism. He dwelt upon the work with one class in particular, the miner. The miner was kind-hearted, well read, had a morality of his own yet was susceptible to religious influences.

The Rev. H. A. Solly, of Summerland, B. C., also spoke of personal work among the miners, and the Rev. A. U. de Pencier, of Vancouver, spoke of visiting hospitals and the care and tact necessary. Literary men were useful because they must know something of the questions their subjects dealt with better than their subjects themselves knew.

The Rev. A. E. O'Meara, of the Yukon, gave an interesting speech on practical problems, dwelling upon the need of travelling missionaries, and upon law and its enforcement.

The Bishop of Columbia summed up the various remarks by stating that they had been dealing merely with the lower strata as it were. Surely there were other members of society whose activities were worthy of consideration. He dwelt upon the laymen's missionary movement which if properly carried out would work out these other problems. The proper frame of mind must be obtained, and all the work must ultimately be achieved through the laymen.

Votes of thanks were passed to the secretary of the clericus, to the ladies of St. John's church, to the city clergy and the hostesses who had entertained the visiting clergy.

In the afternoon an "at home" was given by Mrs. Crow Baker. Evenson's was celebrated at 8 p. m. and a sermon was delivered by the Ven. Archdeacon Scriven.

An impressive social was held in Christ Church cathedral on the previous evening. It celebrated the arrival of the first bishop of the diocese 50 years before.

As was fitting the sermon was delivered by the bishop of the diocese, Right Rev. Bishop Perrin. He thanked for his text the passage "He thanked God and took courage." He referred to the fact that it was on the same day last year that the delegates to the Pan-Anglican conference were gathered in St. Paul's cathedral at a service of thanksgiving. On this occasion they were also gathered in a service of thanksgiving to God for the blessings which they had enjoyed in this province during the past 50 years.

There was one present that night, Bishop Perrin said, who heard the first sermon of Bishop Hills 50 years ago. There had been dark times in the church since then, when the unhappy division took place in it which left its effect to this day. This division was enough to take the heart out of him who was called to minister here. Only a small band was left but the work had grown until today the province was divided into four dioceses with three bishops and one hundred clergy.

The growth in the United States had been equally great. Fifty years ago there were but 30 bishops in all while today in America there were 108. From three in the west the number had grown to nine. The progress might have been greater continued the bishop, but they were thankful for what had been done. When they thought of Bishop Hills and all the pioneers had endured they could but honor them. They gave their best to God and kept back nothing. So the church had grown and so they thanked God and were full of courage.

They were told that religion was losing its hold on the people. The Church of England, however, had an heritage unlike the rest. They had an unbroken apostolic record which had been preserved on one hand from the errors and superstitions of the great Church of Rome and also from the unsatisfactory holdings of faith found in those who had separated themselves. What they wanted was courage to hold on to the faith handed down to them. The church was not state-made, having its origin with Henry VIII, but was one with the church of the past. There was not some superficial acknowledgment of the Christian element, but the faith once delivered by Jesus Christ to the church. For this reason they should stand for all that is truest and highest in the community.

"There are things in this city which are crying out for judgment," said the bishop, "which if Christians were only true to their high calling could be crushed. I know of no place where there are more people who know what is right but because we are not banded together we are allowing things to creep in which we know to be wrong. The church should set the standard for the people and the members should show by their lives what they believe."

Bishop Perrin then referred to the fact that there was not a single stone church in the whole diocese. They which had caused the man to crumple and fall in a heap to the bottom of the little craft.

A colored man who had been among the pursuers walked out in the shallow waters, and brought the boat ashore.

The bare of a match revealed the ghastly effect of the suicide's pistol. A great hole was in his chest and life extinct. The question of whether Eastman died by his own hand or as a result of the fire of the pursuers was not settled until late in the day, when a coroner's jury after securing all the evidence in the report of the examining physicians decided that Eastman had taken his own life.

Eastman watched the development of the murder charges with a smile on his face. All the morning of the Monday after the crime he sat in the telegraph office at McDaniel. In the afternoon he went to Baltimore to mail the letter which Miss Carrie Thompson received on Wednesday morning, and which would have delayed the search for some days if the body had not been discovered. He returned on Tuesday night.

Sitting in the office on Wednesday afternoon he heard George B. Taylor receive a telephone message announcing the finding of the body. "My God!" he exclaimed, jumping to his feet, "you don't mean to say my woman has been murdered here. Who is she?" He dropped back to his chair when told she was unknown.

MORE
With Eastman's death vanished the hope of clearing up the details of one of the most shocking crimes the state of Maryland ever has known. The mystery of Mrs. Woodhill's antecedents, her brilliant prospects and her domestic life, her beauty and the prominence of her foster parents and relatives and the brutal manner of her death have been further heightened by the death of the man in whose company she was last seen.

Story of the Crime
St. Michaels, Md., June 25.—Practically the entire eastern shore of Maryland is aroused in connection with the brutal murder of Mrs. Edith May Woodhill, wife of Gilbert Woodhill, an automobile dealer in Los Angeles, Cal., whose nude body, the skull crushed in by a blow, apparently from behind with iron, was found yesterday by boys in Back Creek, a tributary of the Choptank River, a few miles from here.

John T. Roberts, it is said, was with Mrs. Woodhill when she was last seen and he is accused of having committed the murder. The motive of the crime at present is a mystery.

Roberts is said to be about fifty years old. He claimed to be a magazine writer and general correspondent of newspapers. He is said to have declared that he returned to this locality after a short absence for the purpose expressly of writing up the murder which he is now accused of having committed.

Mr. and Mrs. Woodhill came here early this month, the latter with the intention of spending the summer with her foster-father, Captain Charles H. Thompson. Her husband remained only a few days, leaving, it is understood, for Detroit, whence he intended to return to Los Angeles. From that time Mrs. Woodhill and Roberts are reported to have been seen of each other.

The Rendezvous.
Last Saturday Mrs. Woodhill went to Easton to have some dental work done and it had been arranged that Roberts should meet her at Royal Oak skiff return with her to Baltimore. Roberts missed the train for Royal Oak and drove there, met Mrs. Woodhill and drove with her back to the landing where his launch was moored. They entered the launch and Mrs. Woodhill was not again seen alive so far as it has been learned. Since her disappearance Roberts has made a trip to Baltimore, from which point a letter was received by Capt. Thompson ostensibly from Mrs. Woodhill, in which was in that city and would shortly return. Roberts remained in the neighborhood until after the finding of the body. Probably he endeavored to allay the growing uneasiness of Capt. Thompson in connection with his foster-daughter's absence and it is said he used the letter referred to as evidence in support of his contention that she was all right and would soon return. After the body had been positively identified and suspicion began to point to Roberts, he visited a livery stable kept by Justice of the Peace Willey & Radcliff and tried to hire a team. Radcliff remarked to his partner that Roberts was under suspicion, but Willey did not seem justified in detaining him at the time. Last night, however, he telephoned to the boarding house of George Taylor and made enquiries about Roberts and mentioned that he was suspected of the murder.

Roberts was beside Taylor during this conversation and upon learning of the suspicion against him is said to have remarked: "If that is the case I will not go to Baltimore." Half a minute later he disappeared and it was discovered that he had taken Taylor's skiff. Investigations since made indicate that when Roberts and Mrs. Woodhill met they went in the launch to a bungalow that is being built on Robert's farm, near that of Capt. Thompson. In this bungalow, the belief is expressed, the murder was committed, where were found a bloody sheet and mattress and portions of a woman's clothes, partly burned.

News, dense, will be constructed at Fraser river to keep Lake Nipissing at normal level during the spring freshets.

DELIGHTED WITH HOSPITALITY

Canadian Grocers Exchange
Elect Officers for Ensuing Year

The Canadian grocers who are visiting this city in connection with the annual meeting of the Canada Wholesale Grocers Exchange can find no words adequate to express their sense of appreciation at the great hospitality shown them during their brief sojourn. L. E. Geoffrion, the president of the guild, says that the bounty showered upon them passes understanding, and that when the British Columbia delegates go east for the next annual meeting the easterners will be unable to reciprocate in like fashion.

Yesterday the Exchange concluded its sessions in this city, when the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, L. E. Geoffrion, Montreal. The following vice-presidents for the various provinces were installed: British Columbia, H. P. Lockyear; Alberta, E. Telfer; Manitoba, H. B. Gordon; Ontario, H. C. Beckett; Quebec, L. A. Carriere, M.P.; Nova Scotia, M. Dwyer; New Brunswick, S. A. Jones; Prince Edward Island, W. H. Aitken.

At yesterday's session the Secret Committee came up for discussion and the guild expressed its entire satisfaction at the passage of that measure. The act provides for the severe punishment, the event of proof, of the payment of secret commissions in the transaction of trade, and the grocers are determined to make use of it in the future.

Yesterday afternoon after a luncheon in the Empress hotel the delegates were taken to Todd's cannery at Esquimalt, and later in the afternoon they went by boat on a trip up the Gorge. They enjoyed the outings thoroughly. This morning an auto drive through the environs of the city will be taken, the local merchants being anxious to show their guests the fruit growing possibilities of this district.

SHORT SESSION

Streets Committee of City Council
Makes Record in Dispatch of Business

That the city should commence local improvement works upon a street on which only two houses have been erected to date, when other main residential streets, well settled, must wait for improvements passed many months ago, was strongly objected to by Alderman Fullerton at last night's meeting of the streets, bridges, and sewers committee. He did not wish to oppose the request of the majority of the property owners on Linden avenue, between Fairfield road and Dallas road, in their request for street grading, draining, sewers and water connection, and permanent sidewalk, the necessary connections to be put in before each lot, and perhaps twelve months later a pavement, but he failed to see why, when there was so little improved property on that portion of the street, the request should be granted so far as local improvement works are so delayed.

When the motion to pass the asked for works was put, Alderman Fullerton was the only member of the committee to vote nay.

The committee meeting was one of the shortest in the past year. Few matters of importance came up for consideration, and the business was done in almost record time.

The City Solicitor advised that the account of the British Columbia Telephone Company for $145, cost of moving back poles on Belleville street, should be paid by the city. The provincial government wrote stating that it would pay one half, $80, of the cost of putting the wires in Belleville street underground.

A plan submitted by the British Columbia Electric Company showing the route to be followed by the Esquimalt cars was adopted. The new route will run from Government street around Yates street and Douglas street to Bay street, and thence along the latter thoroughfare to Government street. This change in the route of the cars is necessitated by the introduction of the new cars, which only travel one way.

Quebec Appointment

Quebec, June 25.—At a cabinet meeting held this afternoon at the parliament buildings Jos. Dumont was appointed assistant provincial secretary to fill the vacancy made by the death of Jose Boivin.

First Chinese Consul

Montreal, June 25.—Kung Hein Chao, the first representative of China appointed to Canada, arrived in Montreal this evening from Liverpool. The new Chinese consul expects that his advent in Canada will lead to an increase of trade between the two countries. Kung Hein Chao saying that he did not see any reason why Canada should not secure a share of the trade now enjoyed by the United States. He will take up his official residence at Ottawa.

Powers and Crete.

Paris, June 25.—According to the Temps the four protecting Powers of Crete, France, Great Britain, Russia, and Italy, have reached complete accord with regard to the future of this island. They have decided to withdraw the international troops from Crete on July 22nd. At the same time they urge the Cretans, Turkey, and Greece to remain calm. A proclamation to this effect will be issued to the Cretans, while Turkey and Greece will be advised through the regular diplomatic channels.

Brandenburg's Statement

New York, June 25.—The continuation today of the cross-examination of Broughton Brandenburg in his trial on the charge of grand larceny growing out of his sale to the New York Times of an article purporting to have been written by ex-President Grover Cleveland, developed the statement of Brandenburg that the article in question had been submitted to 20 publications before it was taken to the Times. He added that the extra copy given to the Times had no signature on it, but was a copy and was so marked. Brandenburg also declared that it was not true, as testified by a stenographer, that he told her that his notes and the like were the mass of stuff which Mr. Cleveland had told him to "put together for the magazines."

AN ECHO FROM DISTANT PAST

Curio Now on Exhibit Here
Shows How England, of Old,
Viewed Foreign Invasion

"A sea war cannot hurt Great Britain. It is true it creates a vast expense, but the left hand takes what the right hand pays; and our relation encourages industry and our fleets raise seamen and take away vagabonds. There are certain, as well as apparent advantages and therefore the people who commonly judge from feeling see these clearly and sit down contented. They can balance the loss and gain of men in war and don't value parting with what is spent."

In the Aberdeen Journal of 1775 appeared the above article. In view of the threatened French war at that time the above statement has a peculiar significance at the present time when the Old Country is torn over the question of naval expansion to meet a possible and threatened German invasion. The words written over a century ago when Britain's shores were menaced by an active and hereditary foe and beacon fires were blazing on every headland, when the press was at work forcing men to serve in His Majesty's fleets and the navy was about to gain some of its world renowned victories has a peculiar significance.

Among a large number of relics, possessing an historical significance, collected together by Alexander Gibb, a Scottish world-wide traveler and collector of objects de vertu, now on exhibition at the store of Bleasdale & Company, 907 Government Street, is shown a copy of the Aberdeen Journal of 1775. Those were stirring times, but with the French war practically commenced the paper displays a sober thought and a lack of any of the hysterics so common to the 20th century publication as to make the modern reader wonder at the apparent phlegmatic temperament of the correspondent of that day. Yellow journalism was then a thing unknown, but one can imagine the disgust of the modern day war correspondent at the vast opportunities which his predecessor of the 18th century missed.

Mr. Gibb has brought to Victoria a large number of relics and curiosities which, it is stated, he will later dispose of. In the meantime he has his collection on exhibit. Another interesting curiosity in the collection is the programme of the Cowes regatta held on August 5, 1886, especially made for Her late Majesty, Queen Victoria. The programme, which is a work of art, is exquisitely painted upon silk. It was in the actual possession of Her late Majesty Queen Victoria. The programme of the Gordon family, to which belonged the Sudan martyr, is also shown. It is fashioned out of solid granite and the last member of that famous family to possess it was Colonel Gordon, Stain's House, Aberdeen. The programme is a fashion of the term of a huge goblet. Three goblet shaped pieces fashioned out of wood taken in 1445 from the Cathedral of Aberdeen and now holding an equal number of ostrich eggs form an interesting portion of the collection which also includes other objects having an historical interest, including the masonic regalia worn by Col Gordon, uncle of General Gordon of Sudan fame; the fifth edition of Calaneo's dictionary of the Bible, very rare and out of print; the small arms saddle belonging to the Right Hon. Lord Milton, F.R.G.S. and used on the trip across the continent in 1862, the account of which is now out of print and a number of other interesting and valuable curios.

THUGS IN VANCOUVER

Newcomer Brutally Slugged and Robbed in Stanley Park—One Arrest Made

Vancouver, June 25.—While walking in Stanley park about 8 o'clock last night E. J. Deadman, a newcomer, was brutally assaulted and robbed of $12 and a watch by two thugs who showed him no mercy, but after telling him with some heavy instrument kicked him into insensibility. Before losing consciousness Deadman heard his assailant jocosely say, "One held him down while the other searched through his pockets." Leaving their victim unconscious upon the ground, the thugs fled. Deadman recovered several minutes afterwards, and hurrying to the entrance to the park notified several people, who in turn called the police. The patrol-teams loaded with officers was soon on the scene, but no trace of the highwaymen could be found.

Later Clay Beers, a well dressed young man, who formerly conducted a penny arcade here, was arrested and charged with the crime. After Deadman had been attended to by physicians he accompanied Detectives McDonald and Scott to the Great Northern depot, where they arrived just three minutes before the Seattle train pulled out. Beers was found seated in a car reading a newspaper. Deadman pointed him out as one of his assailants. On being told he was under arrest Beers paled and shook like a leaf. Deadman's watch and $12 were found on him when the police searched him at headquarters.

Magistrate Williams this morning remanded the hearing till Monday on request of Mr. J. A. Russell who has been engaged to defend a charge of highway robbery which is laid against the accused.

The police suspect Beers and his unknown companion with connection with the bunco game which recently took place in the park, when a verdant newcomer was buncoed for $75.

Although the police are scouring the city for the second thug they have met with not the slightest trace of him. It is believed he is in hiding and every avenue of escape is shut off. It will be difficult to effect a capture as Deadman cannot give a description. He would know the voice again, he says, because while the robbery was being committed the thugs were conversing.

Senate Makes Inquiry.

Washington, June 25.—By a resolution introduced today by Mr. Culberson and passed by the senate, the attorney-general is instructed to inform the senate whether legal proceedings against the New York, New Haven and Hartford railway and the Boston and Maine railway company, for violation of the Sherman Anti-trust law, have been discontinued and also whether any statement has been given out by him on that subject to the effect that he had sent a statement of the proceeding to senate. The official announcement of the attorney-general's direction to dismiss the suit was made yesterday by the department of Justice.

City and B. C. Electric Company's High Pressure Systems Will Be Connected

Increased efficiency of the salt water, high pressure system will be secured by the connection of the system with that recently installed by the B. C. Electric company at the Store street plant of the company. By the laying of an eight-inch main from the point on the city's system where the main leading to the pumping station crosses Hend, street, along Store street to connect with the company's system, the city system will be in a position to utilize not only its own pumping station but also that of the company. The company's plant has already been tested and in fact, it is claimed, that with the connection with the Electric company's system the city plant will be in a position to fight an up-town fire even before the source of power for the civic pumps are installed.

At last night's meeting of the streets, bridges and sewers committee the Store street connection with the Electric company's system was ordered made. The mains will be laid before the pavement now under progress on that thoroughfare is laid.

MAKERS OF CANADA

When the men, who write for the magazines or the Metropolitan weekly papers, set out to speak about the Makers of Canada, they content themselves with mentioning a few prominent public men and perhaps a few railway builders. The names of the men, that are usually in the list, no doubt have a right there; but the presence in the city of representatives of the Wholesale Grocers of the Dominion reminds us that there are other makers of Canada than those who live in the limelight of current events. The part played by the mercantile community in building up a country is not conspicuous on the face of things, but it is none the less far-reaching. Their work is done unobtrusively, and perhaps the majority of them would disclaim any pretensions to patriotism in carrying out their various enterprises. They will probably tell you that with them "business is business," and that you cannot pay a bank overdraft with sentiment; but all the same they are nation-builders, because they make nation-building possible. Mr. Simon Leiser, speaking at the banquet at the Empress on Thursday night, referred to the fact that the Wholesale grocers aid in the development of a country by the judicious extension of credit to pioneer traders, and by carrying such men, when it turns out that they have been a little too optimistic in buying. Of course this is only good business, and the wholesale man is not much influenced by philanthropic ideas in so doing; but the point is that he does it. A close analysis of motives might in many cases lead to strange results. Perhaps if we could get to the fundamental reasons, why prominent public men did things, which gained them fame, we might discover something less noble than lofty patriotism and far-seeing statesmanship. After the event we are apt to look upon its consequences, as its cause; and those who brought it about shine with a light reflected from something that they did not foresee. Our modern poets never tire of singing the praises of the "gentlemen adventurers," who in the Elizabethan Era laid the foundations of the British Empire. We ascribe to them a loftiness of purpose and a breadth of vision not apparent either to themselves or their contemporaries. They were influenced partly by the love of adventure, partly by the hope of gain. They had plenty of the former and sufficient of the latter to whet their appetite for more; but they were unconsciously making an Empire and shaping the destinies of the race.

Our times are more prosaic. Instead of caravels and pinnaces we use steamships moving faster than the wind. Instead of sluggish caravans we use swift railway trains. Instead of despatching messengers to all parts of the earth and waiting months for their return, we flash a message half way round the globe and get an answer within a few hours. The gentleman adventurer of the Twentieth Century does not stand on his high-pooped ship, keeping a sharp lookout for other gentry of the same kidney, who would regard the acquisition of his venture as an eminently proper and profitable conclusion of their own. He sits at an office desk, and the genius of the greatest artist could hardly make a romantic figure out of him. He does not spread his velvet cloak upon the ground that his Sovereign may pass by with unsoiled slippers; but he sends his merchandise beyond the borders of civilization, so that heroic, though humble pioneers may blaze a pathway for an army of workers. Thus the business men are as truly nation-builders as the statesmen, the soldiers or the adventurers, whose names historians preserve and whose deeds, mellowed by time, which has cast a mantle of charity over the motives that prompted them, are the admiration and inspiration of us all.

HELPING OURSELVES.

The gods are said to help those who help themselves, and the people of Victoria and Vancouver Island are beginning to act upon that proposition. A good many thousands of words have been printed about the advantages and resources of this part of Canada, but its people have not yet been able to accomplish as great results as might have been expected. There have been several obstacles to progress. One of them has been a division of effort, due partly to political and partly to personal reasons. What one set of men have favored another set of men have opposed, and for no other apparent reason than that the other favored it. There has not been very much of actual politics in the case, by which we mean that in only a few if any cases have people held off from any movement for the public welfare on the ground that it would embarrass their political friends or help their political opponents. This is a good feature of the case, for it encourages the belief, that, if any definite plans for railway construction can be devised, there will be no difficulty in securing the cooperation of both governments, as far as that cooperation can reasonably be asked, and that any rate there will be no division among the people over them upon political grounds. In regard to bringing pressure upon governments, the Colonist has always taken the position that the personal feeling of ministers ought not to influence the action of constituencies. Wise ministers wish to know the feeling of the people, so that they can shape their policies accordingly. Long previous to the last federal election the Colonist advanced certain propositions, which in its humble judgment, seemed to be matters to which the representative of the province in the Dominion cabinet might well give his attention. It did this because it believed it only fair to Mr. Templeman to do so. So now, when there seems to be a probability that the provincial government will propose a railway policy to the legislature, it feels its duty to be to present its views and the views of others on that subject for the consideration of the provincial ministers. Its reason for so doing is the hope that the views thus expressed will find expression in the policy of the provincial government, and it can truthfully say that it hoped the matters urged upon Mr. Templeman's consideration, previous to the dissolution of the late Parliament, would receive the favorable consideration of that gentleman and his colleagues. The Colonist puts the public welfare above party warfare. Its first duty is towards the people; it owes no duty to any party except so far as that party may, in its opinion, be honestly endeavoring to advance the public welfare along lines of which it can conscientiously approve.

Applying this principle to the question of railway development, the Colonist is not at this stage specially concerned with what the provincial government may have in mind. Its efforts are directed to letting the government know what the people have in mind. When this has been done thoroughly, when the government has been fully advised of what the people of this city and Island desire, and when the possibility of giving effect to those desires has been ascertained, then, and not till then, can any one claim that the railway problem has been thoroughly canvassed. Then and only then can the provincial government reach a decision that will be likely to meet with popular support. He would be a false friend to the provincial government who would not seek to keep it in touch with public sentiment, or would refuse to stimulate a sentiment along lines which he believes are for the public benefit. Railway development in British Columbia involves more than the construction of one line. It involves something more than the plans of any one company to get the shortest and best route to the sea, or the route which it thinks is the shortest and best. Southern British Columbia has transportation problems that cannot be ignored, so has Vancouver Island. Whether these problems are sufficiently advanced to be dealt with, and, if so, to what extent, is one of the aspects of the case in regard to which it would be premature to express an opinion; but there can be no doubt as to the duty of the people of Victoria and Vancouver Island to make their wishes known and to leave no stone unturned in their efforts to carry those wishes into effect.

THE TRAMWAY AND THE CITY.

Unless something unexpected transpires, the city and the British Columbia Electric Railway Company, will reach an agreement under which the company will feel justified in proceeding to utilize the water of Jordan river for power purposes. The Colonist has already explained the terms of the agreement so fully that there is no necessity for going over the ground again now. If a by-law is submitted, it will be necessary to do so then. In the meanwhile we congratulate the Mayor and Aldermen upon seeing their way clear to meet the wishes of the company in principle, and upon all the important details. Our understanding of the present status of the matter is that there are some minor details, chiefly of a verbal nature, in the agreement, which the legal advisers of the city think ought to be modified, but that none of them touch the essential features of the plan. This being the case, we suppose we may look upon the question as settled so far as it can be without such ratification as the ratepayers may be asked to give. As a matter of law we do not assume that ratification by the ratepayers is essential, but it is well to have it, for the agreement is nothing more on the part of the city than an undertaking to do certain things under certain circumstances. The company does not ask for legislation, but only for the city to pledge its word to certain reasonable propositions. We feel very confident that the ratepayers will accede to the proposals of the company, and, as there seems to be no doubt that the trifling changes in the agreement will meet the approval of the company's counsel, we may rest assured that an abundance of electrical power will shortly be at the disposal of the company, whereby it will be enabled to improve and extend its transportation and lighting service, and persons wishing to purchase power for mechanical purposes can secure it at reasonable rates.

THE FRENCH IN CANADA.

We are sure Mr. Carrier, M.P., is mistaken in thinking there is a prejudice in British Columbia against the French population of Canada. If he had said that there is much ignorance regarding that element of the population, he would not have been astray, for it is unquestionable that there is not that degree of knowledge among English-speaking Canadians of the history and sentiments of their French-speaking compatriots as would make for a better understanding between them. The fault is not all on one side. The love of the people of Quebec for their laws, language, and religion, has begotten an exclusiveness which is hard to penetrate, especially by people who are so averse to learning any other language than their own, as most English-speaking Canadians are. The people of Quebec assign to the church a place in the lives of communities and individuals such as it possesses in no other part of the Dominion, not even in the French parishes of Nova Scotia and New Brunswick, and this creates a barrier not easily overcome. The Anglo-Saxon assumption always seems to be that people who don't do things in an Anglo-Saxon way must necessarily be wrong; and we therefore rarely take the trouble to look much beneath the surface of things. Are people different from us then let us look on them with suspicion. That is where the fault chiefly lies on our side. Yet we do not think there is any greater prejudice against the French on the one side than against the English on the other. But this is not to say that there ought not to be a better understanding between the two races than now exists; for we think there ought to be, and that there can be no more unpatriotic course than that taken by some unthinking newspapers and politicians, who seek to create an impression that the people of Quebec are disloyal to the British Empire at heart. In a century and a half the 60,000 people who lived in the St. Lawrence valley have increased thirty-fold, with very little augmentation from immigration and a considerable loss by emigration. This is one of the facts in the fabric which we call the Dominion of Canada. We may not like it; we may wish that Lord North had thought more of his duties as Prime Minister and less of being present at a social function and had given greater attention to the facts which were awaiting his investigation before he committed the Parliament of the United Kingdom to the establishment of an imperium in imperio; we may hope that in some ways the barriers between the two races may be broken down, so that there may be a greater assimilation; but as patriotic Canadians we must recognise the facts, and try to understand our compatriots better. If we would do so, any prejudice on either side, if any exists, would be removed, and the two races would work together harmoniously for the development of their common country, and be ready to stand shoulder to shoulder for the maintenance of the Empire.

According to the Colonial Office official list, Victoria, B.C., is in Ontario. Thus do we live and learn.

The United States cartoonists are trying hard to make themselves believe that the people of other countries are interested in their squabbles in Congress over the tariff.

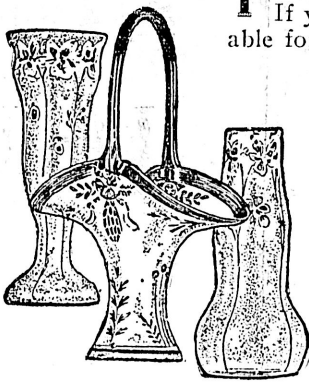

Germany is having her own share of financial troubles. This seems strange, seeing that the Kaiser only a few days ago announced that he had a divine right to regulate the finances of the empire, and that to disagree with his plans was disloyal.

The Montreal Witness is not very sure whether or not the development of the great mineral wealth of Northern Ontario will be good for Canada and the world. But did it ever occur to the witness that mankind is not responsible for the existence of stores of wealth in the earth?

On Thursday night just before midnight a very remarkable meteor passed across the western sky below the horizon. It was in the same quarter of the heavens as the moon and could therefore be readily compared with it. The meteor was kite-shaped. Its head was a semicircle and it tapered off to a point. Its length was apparently about half the moon's diameter, and its breadth in its widest part was about a quarter of its length. It moved so slowly that observation of it was easy. The bright head had in front of it a narrow band of hazy light. The head itself was of a very bright white light. The tapering part was less brilliant than the head and had on each side a band of hazy light, the two bands coming together at the rear end and trailing off into space. It maintained its shape and brightness until it disappeared from view behind the Sooke hills. The slowness of its apparent motion suggests that it must have been a long distance away, and if so its size must have been great. On the other hand its luminous envelope, which appeared as a hazy band suggests that it must have been passing through the atmosphere at an elevation where it is somewhat dense. Perhaps the direction in which the meteor was moving may account for the apparent slowness of its transit across the sky.

A PECULIAR NUMBER—273.

Amazing Medley of Facts and Figures.

In the study of the theory of numbers, writes a mathematician, one will notice some very peculiar things; but many of these old features remain unnoticed until they are forced upon us. The number 273 offers a field for entertaining results. It is, in the first place, the sum of the factors 3 times 7 times 13, so that the results obtained may be obtained from any of the factors or from the products of any two of them, 21, 39, 91.

1,000,000 for the product. If we multiply the number 37, we obtain 10,101, which may be considered as consisting of six digits with the first 0 cancelled. Any multiple of 37 will give similar results, the ninth multiple (333) giving 99,999, etc. If we take 187 for the multiplier, we obtain 51,051; if we use twice 187 for the multiplier, we obtain twice 51,051, or 102,102; etc. If our multiplier is 581, the product is 159,159; if it is 1947, the product is 531,531; if it is 2761, the product is 753,753; if it is 3575, the product is 975,975, etc. A little investigation will show that the sum of the digits in all these products will always be a number that can be divided by 3.

The question will naturally be asked, how many products smaller than 1,000,000 can we obtain where the first three digits are the same as the last three? The question may be answered as follows:

No matter what combination of figures we may take, where we repeat the first three for the last three, that number will always be a multiple of 273. If we take the sum of the digits is equal to 3 or some multiple of 3. If we take the odd numbers first, we find that we have 1, 3, 5, 7, 9, etc. for our possible digits. The numbers may be arranged in groups of three as follows:

Let 1 be the first number; then if each one of the others is taken in succession as the second, we may get a group, we have three selections for the number in the third place. Thus, we have 135, 137, 139, followed by 153, 157, 159, etc. If this is followed out to the end we find that we have sixty different combinations of three digits, and of these twenty-four groups will permit the adding of the sum of the digits to a multiple of 3. These are 135, 153, 159, 195, 315, 351, 357, 375, 513, 531, 537, 579, 591, 597, 735, 753, 759, 795, 815, 851, and 975. We may obtain the same results if the three digits that add to a multiple of 3 are taken, and then the arrangements.

These groups are those containing 1, 3, and 5; 1, 5, and 3; 3, 5, and 1; 5, 3, and 1; and since each group of three may be arranged in four ways without introducing new digits, we can find in this way that there are twenty-four arrangements in all. It may prove interesting to work out the values for the even digits, 2, 4, 6, 8, and 9. In like manner we may get sixty arrangements of three each, and of these we find twenty-four that will be multiples of 3. Then when we take the combinations of odd and even digits, either two odd and one even, or two even and one odd, we find that we have increased our possibilities to a wonderful extent.

If we take the combinations of two odd and one even first, we have the following combinations of two odd, only: 13, 15, 17, 19, 31, 35, 37, 39, 51, 53, 57, 59, 71, 73, 75, 79, 91, 93, 95, 97, or twenty arrangements in all. If we may place the 0 in any position in the group, making two even and one odd, we get 130, and in like manner combine 0 with each of the other groups of two or six combinations involving two odd and one even, and 0, we get 130, 150, 170, 190, 310, 330, 350, 370, 510, 530, 550, 570, 590, 710, 730, 750, 770, 910, 930, 950, 970, or twenty combinations in all. If we combine each of these with 0, we may place the 0 in any position in the group, making two even and one odd, we get 130, and in like manner combine 0 with each of the other groups of two or six combinations involving two odd and one even, and 0, we get 130, 150, 170, 190, 310, 330, 350, 370, 510, 530, 550, 570, 590, 710, 730, 750, 770, 910, 930, 950, 970, or twenty combinations in all. If we combine each of these with 0, we may place the 0 in any position in the group, making two even and one odd, we get 130, and in like manner combine 0 with each of the other groups of two or six combinations involving two odd and one even, and 0, we get 130, 150, 170, 190, 310, 330, 350, 370, 510, 530, 550, 570, 590, 710, 730, 750, 770, 910, 930, 950, 970, or twenty combinations in all.

Then if we take the combinations of two even and one odd numbers, we find our groups of two even numbers to be 02, 04, 06, 08, 20, 24, 26, 28, 40, 42, 46, 48, 50, 54, 56, 58, 60, 64, 66, 68, 70, 74, 76, 78, 80, 84, 86, 88, 90, 94, 96, or twenty combinations in all. If we combine each of these with 0, we may place the 0 in any position in the group, making two even and one odd, we get 130, and in like manner combine 0 with each of the other groups of two or six combinations involving two odd and one even, and 0, we get 130, 150, 170, 190, 310, 330, 350, 370, 510, 530, 550, 570, 590, 710, 730, 750, 770, 910, 930, 950, 970, or twenty combinations in all.

There are in all seven hundred and twenty combinations of three digits where none of the digits of the group is taken twice and by doubling the group the values less than 1,000,000 may be obtained. Of these all that are multiples of 3 are also multiples of 273.

ALLEGED INTERVIEWS ON CANNIBAL TALK

London, June 25.—The statement made by Dr. F. Gowland Hopkins in an address on "Biological Chemistry" at the Royal Institution, that in consuming his own kind cannibals are "eating exactly the right kind of stuff," has sent a shudder through the ranks of the vegetarians. Dr. Hopkins based his statement on the assumption that a cannibal by eating his own kind obtained just the right quality and quantity of protein.

When Mr. Eustace Miles had recovered from the shock of being requested to give an opinion on the subject he denounced Dr. Hopkins' theories as ridiculous.

"Man's body," said the noted vegetarian, "contains not only protein but also the waste products—the result of bodily and mental work and worn-out tissues."

"When a man eats flesh food of any kind he adds to his body these acid waste products, which are hard to get rid of without abundant exercise. I admit, however, that the cannibal probably gets healthy exercise by chasing his victims."

As Mr. Miles warmed to his subject he became positively ghoulish.

NEWS OF THE CITY

Will Erect Dwelling.

A building permit was taken out yesterday by James Moggy who will erect a dwelling on Sutley street to cost $1,800.

Mayor Hall Improving.

Mayor Hall who has been confined to bed for the past 19 days suffering from a severe attack of erysipelas has greatly improved and yesterday was able to be up. It is expected that his convalescence will be sufficiently recovered to attend the regular Monday night's council meeting.

Lawn Social.

The men's adult Bible class of the Centennial Methodist church have arranged to give a unique lawn social at the residence of Mr. W. H. Parsons, 551 Burnside road, next Tuesday evening, commencing at 7:30. An orchestra has been engaged for the occasion, and a splendid programme arranged. Strawberries and cream will be served to guests. The men's class have spared no pains in making the event a big success.

For Protection of Life.

Fire Chief Davis has completed his inspection of the city hotels made with the object of ascertaining to what extent proprietors and owners have been observing the regulations relative to proper provision of fire escapes. In the majority of cases the law has been generally observed and in those cases where the means of egress are not considered sufficient by the chief the owners have expressed their willingness to comply with the regulations.

After Erring Drivers.

The police authorities will make a determined effort to stop excessive speed in the driving of automobiles. Hereafter auto drivers will be watched and offenders against the regulations prosecuted. Some of the drivers have omitted to take out the necessary license, others have omitted to have the number of their car placed thereon while others omit to observe other of the regulations such as the sound of horns at crossings, etc. These breaches of the law will be reported on and fines for violators of the law are promised.

Reservoir Supply Increasing.

Slowly but surely the Smith's Hill reservoir is filling. Yesterday at noon there was a depth of three feet two inches of water in the reservoir or approximately between 3,000,000 and 3,500,000 gallons. The depth of the water is daily lowered about one inch during the hours of heaviest demand but this loss is more than made up at night when the city demands fall to the level point. Water Commissioner Hayman maintains that there is not the slightest evidence of any defect in the construction of the reservoir or that there is any danger from the pressure of the water against the walls of the reservoir.

Will Come For Prisoner.

The authorities of Munroe County, Iowa, will make an effort to take back for trial Charles James, the mulatto who was arrested at Ladysmith on Thursday by Provincial Constable Cassidy and Town Constable Callender, on suspicion of having murdered Jack Johns, in a barroom row at Buxton, Iowa, on the night of December 12, 1904. James, or Jones as his real name is believed to be, arrived in the city on Thursday and he is now held at the provincial jail awaiting the arrival of an officer from Iowa. Yesterday morning W. B. Griffin, sheriff of Munroe county, wired Superintendent of Provincial Police Hussey that he was leaving immediately with the necessary papers to extradite the prisoner, should the latter refuse to return voluntarily.

INTERESTING POINT OF LAW ARISES

Chief Justice Gives Decision on Nice Point Regarding Land Sale

In the Supreme court yesterday afternoon Chief Justice Hunter dismissed the action for specific performance of Mannell vs. Enos, the decision involving an interesting point of law. The facts briefly were that the defendant owned an undivided half interest in a quarter section of land near Alberni. He gave a power of attorney to one Baverlochy, authorizing him to rent or sell the quarter section to the best of his judgment. It also appeared in evidence that when he gave the power of attorney Enos believed that Baverlochy owned the half interest, and that it had always been understood between them that they should sell together.

Baverlochy entered into an agreement of sale with the plaintiff under this power of attorney, which he signed for Enos and himself. Later the plaintiffs discovered that the other half interest belonged to Mrs. and not Mr. Baverlochy, and accordingly Mr. Carmichael, who was interested in the purchase, went to Alberni to get a fresh agreement. Here the first hitch occurred, as before she would sign Mrs. Baverlochy wanted $10 an acre more than the price just agreed upon. Eventually it was arranged that she should get the advance, and the document was signed.

When Enos heard that his co-owner had made more out of the property than he had, he refused to complete and action for specific performance was brought. The chief justice dismissed the action on the ground that the power of attorney did not authorize Baverlochy to enter into an agreement in which Enos would be tied up with the other co-owner. Under the document signed, his interest might be tied up indefinitely without recourse should Mrs. Baverlochy prove unable to complete her title. All that Baverlochy had the power to sell was Enos' interest irrespective of his co-owner. As it was, the agreement lacked, so far as Enos was concerned, that mutuality essential before an action for specific performance could be successfully maintained. A. P. Luxton, K. C., appeared for the plaintiff and R. T. Elliott, K. C., for the defendant, and it is understood that the case will be taken to the court on appeal.

Band Recital Monday.

A band recital will be given at the Salvation Army barracks on Monday evening next. It will be under the direction of Capt. McGrath, territorial bandmaster, assisted by Bandmasters Redburn of Victoria, and Wakefield, of Vancouver.

Four Bandits in Holdup.

No word had been received by the provincial police department up to a late hour last night indicating that the search for the bandits who held up the C.P.R. express near Dukes station at midnight on Tuesday, has developed any new features or that any trace of the robbers has been discovered. All the press despatches have told of six robbers doing the trick. Yesterday morning Superintendent of Provincial Police Hussey received a wire from Sergeant Murray stating that the bandits numbered four instead of six as at first reported, that the search is being vigorously prosecuted but that to date no trace of the whereabouts of the quartette, or the direction in which they fled, has been secured.

INJURED BY FALL

Ernest Mitchell Falls Twenty-five Feet From Pole, and Receives Fracture of Arm

Missing his hold and falling a distance of twenty-five feet from a pole beneath, Ernest Mitchell, employed by the city in assisting W. D. McMicking, fire department electrician, in stringing fire alarm wires, sustained a broken arm and severe bruises yesterday morning shortly after 11 o'clock.

Mitchell, was descending from a pole near the corner of Simcoe street and Dallas road when, in getting past a high tension wire, he inadvertently touched the charged wire, sustaining a slight shock which, however, was sufficient to make him lose his hold. He struck the ground upon his left side, the arm being fractured above the elbow. The Victoria Transfer ambulance was summoned, and Mitchell taken to Dr. Stalder's office, where he was given first aid, and afterwards taken to the Jubilee hospital, where he will be confined for some days. Beyond the fracture and some bruises Mitchell is not otherwise injured.

The funeral will take place today at 2 p. m., from the hospital, proceeding direct to Ross Bay cemetery. The orthodox Greek priest from Vancouver will be present to officiate at the ceremony.

The funeral of the late Napier Kingsbury will take place this afternoon. Services will be conducted in the Hanna chapel, at 2:30 p. m. The Rev. T. E. Holling will officiate.

Dever.

The funeral of the late Rev. A. W. Dever took place yesterday afternoon from the family residence, Colville road, Victoria West. The reverend gentleman was well known here and was held in high regard by all who knew him, for the past three years he had been in charge of the Methodist church at Duncan, B. C., retiring from that pastorate only a month ago on account of ill health. For 10 years, Mr. Dever filled various pastorates in the east, coming west three years ago to take charge of the church of which he was pastor at the time of his death. The funeral services were conducted in the Victoria West Methodist church by the Rev. A. E. Roberts, assisted by the Rev. J. A. Woods and Rev. J. L. Westman. Touching reference was made to the deceased minister's lovable character and of the loss the church had sustained. The church was crowded with sympathizing friends, many of the late Mr. Dever's former congregation coming down from Duncan. The hymns sung were "Asleep in Jesus," "Weep Not For a Deceased Brother," and "Sermon on the Mount." Among the wealth of floral tributes presented was a large cross from the Victoria Methodist Ministerial union and a beautiful design from The Christian Aid society of Duncan, B. C. Many letters of condolence were received.

A FEW CUTTING REMARKS

The purpose of a saw is to cut. It should cut easily, cut cleanly, and cut with every movement. It is for an Atkins Saw. Its blade is "Silver Steel", recognized the world over as the finest, cruelest steel ever made in ancient or modern times. It is hard, close-grained and tough. It holds a sharp cutting edge longer than any other saw. Its blade tapers perfectly from thick to thin, from handle to tip. It makes a clean cut for itself, runs easily and does not buckle. Its temper is perfect. When bent by a crooked thrust, it springs into shape without kinking. The Atkins Saw cuts—and does it best of any. We make all types and sizes of saws, but only one grade—the best.

BIG MEETING AT METCHOSIN

Speakers Heartily Endorse Work Being Done by Development League

An enthusiastic and largely attended meeting of the Metchosin and Colwood league was held in the Metchosin hall on Wednesday evening at which Ralph Smith, M. P.; John Jardine, M. P. P.; Ernest McGaffey, secretary of the Vancouver Island Development League; H. D. Helmecken, K. C.; Hans Helgeson and a number of others prominently identified with the development of the island, were present.

The meeting was opened by George Heatherbell, the secretary of the Metchosin and Colwood league. Mr. Heatherbell is one of the pioneer fruit growers of Vancouver Island and owner of Glen Lee, a fruit farm at Colwood, situated directly on the lagoon near the open sea. He is a well known lecturer and a writer on fruit topics. His farm is one of the finest on the island.

In the opening address he drew attention to the fact that the Metchosin and Colwood league had been started two years ago and was really the pioneer in the development movement on the island. The people of those districts had been very glad to join with the Vancouver Island league. Colwood and Metchosin formed one of the richest and most productive regions in the world and was particularly and especially adapted to fruit growing and agriculture.

Ralph Smith, M. P., who was called upon to speak, made an able and strenuous address, pointing out that the basis of prosperity in all countries lay in the land. Agriculture was the foundation of national prosperity. He was in hearty accord with the principles of the league and its efforts to consolidate the interests of the various districts on Vancouver Island for the purpose of mutual benefit. He would be glad to personally aid the league in any manner within his power. He drew attention to the fact that the people of his district had not applied to him in vain in the matter of development, and he asked those present to call upon him at any time for aid which might be required in the development of the district. He was very glad that the Vancouver Island league had been started and had the utmost faith in its future. Mr. Smith's address was punctuated by frequent rounds of applause.

Following him John Jardine, M. P., made a happy address and expressed himself as thoroughly in accord with the objects of the league. He was willing at all times to aid the residents on the island to obtain anything of a material character. He alluded to the land clearing question and the need of telephone and mail connections and adverted to the fact that the residents of Colwood were anxious to get better mail service both over land and sea.

H. Helmecken was responsible for a witty speech in which he expressed his satisfaction at knowing that politics were being kept out of the affairs of the league. It had started out with the earnest desire of benefiting the island as a whole. He was heartily in sympathy with all its aims. His address was warmly applauded.

Secretary McGaffey, of the Vancouver Island league, explained the object of the organization and the work already accomplished. Hans Helgeson, rising to a motion extending the thanks of the assembly to the speakers, made a rather eloquent speech on the question of the hearty support being extended to the league and its officials. Dr. A. T. Watt seconded the motion. The audience completely filled the hall and there were a large number of ladies present, including Mrs. (Dr.) Watt, Mrs. H. D. Helmecken and daughter, a number of others. The meeting generally was voted one of the most successful, either in the history of the Metchosin and Colwood or the Vancouver Island Development League.

On Thursday Mr. McGaffey, the secretary of the Vancouver Island league, went on a tour through the Colwood district.

CADETS INSPECTED

Victoria Collegiate School Number 108 Cadets Passed Upon

The annual inspection of the Victoria Collegiate school cadets took place yesterday on the recreation grounds adjoining the school.

Owing to the absence on duty of Major C. C. Bennett, the D. S. A. M. D. 11, Captain P. Elliston, R. C. G. A. was the inspecting officer, and at 3 o'clock as he passed through the gate to the parade ground he was received by a "general salute" the cadets presenting arms, with drums beating, and bugles blowing the salute.

Then followed the usual inspection of the ranks, and the inspecting officer was particularly pleased with the very smart turnout, and the way the boys had polished up their accoutrements, etc. The corps being uniformed in khaki, slouch hats, made a fine showing on parade. The company marched past the inspecting officer, first in column and then in quarter column, in fine style, the ranks as straight as a line and marching as steady as a rock.

Several movements in section work followed, the company being drilled alternately by the captain, and each lieutenant, then the inspection was brought to a close by the cadets going through the regular skirmishing drill and, attack and although it was a very hot afternoon the sun fiercely shining on the boys, they rushed around by sections, firing rapidly and without any cadet falling out.

"It cured me," or "It saved the life of my child," are the expressions you hear every day about Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. This is true the world over where this valuable remedy has been introduced. No other medicine is so useful for diarrhoea or bowel complaints has received such general approval. The secret of the success of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy is that it cures.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is sold on a guarantee that if you are not satisfied after using two-thirds of a bottle according to directions, your money will be refunded. It is up to you to try.

If you are not satisfied after using according to directions two-thirds of a bottle of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets, you can have your money back. The tablets cleanse and invigorate the stomach, improve the digestion, regulate the bowels, give them a trial and get well.

The particularly smart way the drill was performed drew forth words of praise from the inspecting officer, who formed the cadets up in close order to tell them how very pleased he was to inspect them today, and more than pleased to find they had acquitted themselves so admirably and proved themselves so very efficient.

The cadet corps was commanded by Captain G. B. Proctor, with Lieutenant P. N. A. Smith and W. C. Ross, the total number on parade was 49 out of 50, the strength of the corps.

One of the notable features of the parade was the bugle band of the corps, which has lately been organized, and although small, it is very good indeed, and helps the boys to march along in fine military style.

A number of Mr. and Mrs. Laing's friends were present at the inspection, who were entertained afterwards at tea on the lawn of the Laurels.

MEET MONDAY TO FORM SOCIETY

Women's Canadian Club to Be Organized at Empress Hotel

On Monday, the 28th of June, at 2 o'clock, p.m., a meeting will be held in the drawing room of the Empress Hotel, which the manager has kindly placed at the disposal of the promoters of the scheme—when the Women's Canadian Club of Victoria will be inaugurated, and the officers for the coming year elected. Mr. A. E. McPhail, K.C., M.P.P., will take the chair, and give a short account of the work which the Canadian Clubs throughout Canada are engaged. The ladies of Victoria and the wives and daughters of the members of the men's Canadian club in the city are earnestly requested to attend and enroll themselves as members of this organization, which has been so highly commended by Earl Grey as a medium through which the women of the Dominion can testify their patriotism and loyalty to the country of which they are citizens.

It is hoped that during the visit of His Excellency to Victoria later in the summer that he may be induced to address the members of the newly-formed organization, and that the list of members will do credit to the public spirit of the feminine element in the capital of British Columbia.

NEW BOARD NOW GIVES OFFENSE

Alderman Stewart Would Do Away With Parks Board

Just when the public is settling down to the conviction that hereafter the relations between the city council and the parks board will be of a most amicable nature and that the bickerings and strained relations which arose over the conduct of the business of the board by the old parks board were a thing of the past, Alderman Stewart with the proposition to terminate the existence of the board and have the work of park superintendence and control vested in a committee of the council.

This latest turn of the wheel in the management of Victoria's parks and beauty spots will be a subject of discussion at Monday night's council meeting and will surely be provocative of a heated discussion.

Alderman Stewart will submit a resolution that the parks board bylaw of 1907 be repealed. As that measure authorized the organization of a parks board and gave it its present powers to repeal it will mean that the board is put down and out. Evidently it is Alderman Stewart's intention to show no consideration for the three gentlemen who, at Mayor Hall's request, came forward and volunteered their services in place of the four members, John Arbutnot, John Nelson, G. E. Swenson and F. B. Pemberton, who recently took umbrage at the attitude of the council and resigned.

His Objections
Alderman Stewart's move is the result of the action taken by the new board at its last meeting in advancing the salary of the parks superintendent, D. D. England, from $90 to $150 per month. While he is not averse to seeing the superintendent secure an advance in salary, altogether he is of the opinion that the board is at the present time but two members of the civic permanent staff who are drawing more money than that given to the head of the parks' system. This apparent readiness to vote away the money expended in fact there are at the present time but two members of the civic permanent staff who are drawing more money than that given to the head of the parks' system. This apparent readiness to vote away the money expended in fact there are at the present time but two members of the civic permanent staff who are drawing more money than that given to the head of the parks' system.

Scheme Evidently Failed
While four members of the old board resigned, only three gentlemen were appointed to succeed them, Dr. Hall, brother of Mayor Hall, A. E. Lewis and H. M. Fullerton. The idea of the mayor and council was to leave a vacancy on the board, thus equalizing the council and non-council members before the non-council members were in the majority. At the last meeting of the board, however, only one council member, Alderman Henderson, was present the mayor and Alderman Turner not turning up, and three non-council members promptly voted him to the chair. Accordingly while he voiced his objections to the immediate increase of the parks superintendent's salary to $150 the other members carried it.

And now after they have sat at but one meeting, Messrs. Fullerton, Hall and Lewis have fallen foul of the council, or at least of some of the members thereof, and the old troubles seem in a fair way to be resurrected.

Sneak thieves are active in Hamilton.

The annual athletic sports of Corrig College, took place yesterday at Beacon Hill, under the most favorable circumstances. The weather being delightful, the entries many and all the events being well contested. The championship aggregate in the open events was carried off by Cruikshank, with 16 points. J. Fraser with 10 and J. Fraser, nine, both showing excellent form. In the under 14 class W. J. ## Here and There

While a number of students and observers have been trying to prove by experiment that the people of western countries eat too much meat, conditions have arisen that are likely to force all but the very wealthy to adopt per force a diet more largely vegetarian. The price of meat in the United States has so greatly increased that hundreds of butcher shops in the poorer quarters of New York had to be closed because laborers could not afford to buy meat at the higher prices. It will be autumn, we are told before the prices can fall. Worse than this, the cost of bread and potatoes has also greatly increased.

Wages on the other hand have remained stationary, and the worker is feeling the pinch. Housekeepers in our own city have very much the same experience. Bread and potatoes have not for many years been so dear as at present. In this great Canada of ours with its vast wheatfields and its small population it might be thought that plenty would prevail. Yet the countries of the world are now so close together, so dependent upon one another that prices cannot advance in one without affecting all. The farmer, indeed, must profit by the advance in the cost of food, and will do so until the wages of the mechanic, the laborer and the commercial classes are raised to enable them to meet the rise in prices. Then the products of their labor will increase in value so that the farmer's profits must go to meet a rise in the cost of machinery for his work, and necessities for his household. Students of political economy do not, however, seem to think this is likely to happen. It will be necessary they say, for the American wage earner to reduce his expenses. We cannot continue to spend as large sums upon our tables as we did in the old days when there was more food raised in proportion to the population. This will cause a great revolution in our way of life, and one that will not be welcomed.

Even in the early days of colonization both in Canada and the United States, there was a sort of order plenty. In most years the farmers raised more than could be used in the home and supply the family with such clothing as was considered necessary. Milk and butter, eggs and meat were all raised on the farm, and usually supplied the tables with nourishing food. Wild fruit was plentiful and furnished preserves for winter. It was only the very unskilful, the unfortunate, the improvident or the very penurious couple who did not provide their children with abundant nourishing food. At first markets were so distant that much that is now sold was used at home. The careful housewife saved everything for which money was paid, but spent generously enough of what was raised on the farm.

When foreign markets were opened up by railroads, a new era of prosperity set in. The farmers' houses were better furnished, and their wives and children better dressed. Their sons, who went to the city prospered. To the home made dishes were added dainties which the extension of commerce made possible. Perhaps, in some places the standards of living advocated by labor leaders, helped towards an expenditure that would be considered lavish in European countries.

Now we are told that we have gone too far. We are eating and drinking more than is good for us the doctors say, while the pressure of hard times and the high prices warn us that we are using more than we can afford.

If in this matter, reform is needed, it must come from the women. Our cookery books have hitherto been used chiefly for making dainties. Each housewife has vied with the other how to combine the materials at her hand so as best to please the palate and what are considered the best recipes have often been the most extravagant and not infrequently it is to be feared, the most indigestible.

How to supply the most nourishing and at the same time the nicest dishes at the smallest cost, is a study which has not hitherto occupied the minds of women on this continent to any great extent. Now, in the large centres of population in the east the pressure of want is forcing upon philanthropists the need of cheap food. Domestic science is helping greatly in this work, and it will not be long before no woman will be considered fit to manage a home till she understands both the art and the science of cookery.

The subject of health was the first to come before the congress of women and the number of speakers shows how very widely the subject is studied by women in all countries. A great many of those who addressed the congress are doctors who speak with authority upon the subject. It is surprising, in these days, how little is said by these scientific people about drugs or even of the advantage of surgery. They all insist that good health is, as Lady Aberdeen said, to be gained and preserved by good housing, good food, fresh air, temperance and self control. If this is true and few will dispute it, we must agree with this speaker that the health of any nation is very largely in the hands of its women. If all mothers understood and practiced the laws of health our hospitals would not need to be enlarged and the professions of doctor and nurse would not be as profitable as they are now. Perhaps it is rather from the work in the narrower sphere of home than from that wider but not so powerful an influence over the health of communities that improvement is to be looked for. Factory inspectors, settlement workers and charitable institutions may and do effect reforms. But the necessity for these would be greatly lessened if each mother in her own home were to consider that it was of the greatest importance that she should do everything possible to conserve not only the health of members of her household but her own.

The Washington state Federation of Women's clubs at their closing meeting passed a resolution against the practice of working men in the chain gangs on the streets and highways. It is surprising that there are not more frequent protests against this way of punishing prisoners. It is hard to see what good end it serves. Very few citizens see the little band of men forced to march through our public streets without a feeling of painful pity. It is a public degradation that harden any man who retains a feeling of self respect. No one doubts that the prisoners who fill our jails deserve punishment and it may be granted that enforced idleness or useless monotonous labor are both bad for them.

NONE BETTER MADE

Yet it cannot but be felt that even in Victoria it should be possible, while forcing men to work to allow them to do so free from the gaze of the public. There is no question that there ought to be a farm attached to the jail where the men who work on the chain gang could be profitably employed. It is long since the stocks were abolished as bad alike for the prisoner and those who took pleasure in his disgrace. It is high time that the stocks followed.

Another resolution this federation passed was one concerning the enforcement of the anti-cigarette law. The women of this province are very active in procuring the passing of a law forbidding the use of cigarettes to Canadian boys. Is it being enforced? The Washington law goes much further than ours. It forbids the use of cigarettes to men as well as boys. Whatever question there may be about the wisdom of trying to prevent those of mature years using any form of tobacco their choice is none about the harm that smoking does to children. The state has a right to protect them from the greed of others and from their own folly. But a law that is not strictly enforced is far worse than no law at all.

A Judicious Move
A young man was riding in a tram. He took the corner seat, and held in his hand an umbrella, which had been given him as a birthday present. On the seat facing him was a lady with a precocious boy, evidently about five years old.

The youngster regarded the young man with attention for a few moments, and then his eyes wandered to the umbrella. He gazed at it in silence for a second, then he wriggled in his seat, clasped his hands, and shouted:

"Oh, mama, don't that look like papa's umbrella?"

"Hush, hush, my child!" said the mother, patting the prodigy on the head.

"Papa was looking for his umbrella."

this morning, mamma," continued the child wonder.

"Yes, yes, but he found it," said the mother hurriedly, as the conversation was becoming of interest to the occupants of the room.

The Dirt of Ages
A charitably disposed official of the municipal government at Washington tells of an interesting exchange of views between two urchins at a dinner given to the newboys of the capital by popular subscription.

As the lads were waiting for their dessert they placed their grimy hands side by side on the tablecloth.

"Mine is dirtier than yours!" was the claim made by one boy.

"Maybe it is," said the second new-boy, "but you don't wantter fergit you're two years older'n me."

Odd Use of Postage Stamps
The monks at the Hospital of Saint Jean de Dieu at Ghent have employed some of their leisure moments in decorating their walls with gorgeous landscapes, glowing with color, and formed entirely by means of cancelled postage stamps of all nations.

Palaces, forests, streams, and mountains are represented in this unique scheme of decoration, while fitting but-terflies shown in the air, as well as birds, snakes, and other animals, are indicated here and there with consummate skill. The pictures are in the Chinese style of landscape gardening, and it is estimated that between ten and twelve millions of stamps have been employed in this way.

The Stab Polite.
To be at the same time rude and polite is an achievement of great difficulty. A writer in the Philadelphia Ledger tells of a French gentleman who had finished his holiday in England, and had just paid a very large bill. He was indignant but his native courtesy was unimpaired.

"Send ze proprietaire to me," he said to the waiter, and presently the host entered.

Monsieur was all smiles.

"Ah, let me embrace you!" he cried. "But why do you want to embrace me, sir? I don't understand."

"Ah, saire, but look at zee beel?" "Your bill! Yes, but what of it?" "Vot of it? Vy, it means zat I s'all nevaire, nevaire see you again, saire."

Suspended in the elevator shaft of the Union Trust building, four storeys above the ground, Mrs. Tative, Detroit, hung until the motors released her, and she fell, escaping with serious injuries.

DO YOU KNOW ANYTHING ABOUT THIS

New York, June 25.—Bob Fitzsimmons, who says he is still undisputed middleweight and light heavyweight champion of the world, came back from Europe today on the Atlantic transport liner Minneapolis to fight anybody at any time and anywhere to win back the heavyweight title. Most especially is he after Jack Johnson.
"I can lick 'em," said Bob, his British accent thicker than ever after his six months in the old country, "and you can blow me up an apple tree if I don't keep arter 'im until he's got to fight me."
Fitzsimmons thought Jeffries might beat Johnson if Jeffries is fit.
"They under-estimate that nigger," said the Cornishman. "He's no snap. I fought 'im two rounds in Philadelphia, and I know. He fouled me then or I'd have whipped 'im."
The old man is in grand shape.
"Why, on my last birthday I promised my little wife not to touch a drop for six months. That was eleven months ago."
"Did you last?" he was asked.
"I did," he said solemnly. "Think of it—eleven months. But I tell you the voyage back, Mr. James Phyfe, one of the passengers, celebrated the silver anniversary of his wedding, and I felt it incumbent on me to take a few. Was I right?"

YACHTSMEN WERE DROWNED IN HUDSON

Poughkeepsie, N.Y., June 25.—Wm. P. Marks and an unknown company are believed to have been drowned in the Hudson River off this point last night. When the steamer Romer reached Rondout, the pilot in charge stated that when the steamer was opposite Poughkeepsie a dark object loomed up off the starboard bow, then followed a crash. Neither the pilot or the captain heard the cries and supposed the steamer had struck a log.
Members of the Yacht Club passing the spot a few minutes later found a portion of a launch. Caught on to a piece of wreckage was a strip of human flesh nearly a foot long which a doctor said was the ligaments of a man's arm. Further trace has not been found of the body.

Polo Game Postponed.

London, June 25.—The second game in the series between the Meadowbrook, Long Island League, and the Hurlingham players for the American cup, that was to have been played tomorrow, has been postponed, probably to June 30th, on account of rains that have softened the ground.

A Dusky Boxing Club.

Memphis, Tenn., June 25.—Local negroes have incorporated a strictly negro boxing club. It is to be the only one of its kind in the world and negroes only will be made to appear in battle. Steps will be taken to sign Johnson and Langford. Bouts will be limited to eight rounds under the Tennessee statute.

Warm Talk, From Sam.

New York, June 25.—Sam Langford, the negro heavyweight, who recently went to England and captured the British heavyweight championship by knocking out Ian Hague, returned home today on board the steamship Lusitania. "I am ready to fight Johnson for the championship at any time," said Langford. "In fact I would have met him in England, but he would not cross the ocean, fearing he would meet defeat. Hague was an easy proposition though he is a strong fellow."

TALK ON WHISKEY CAUSES MUCH GRIEF

London, June 25.—The war now raging in England over the proposal to increase the whiskey duty is a very mild reproduction of the storm that arose in the country early in the eighteenth century, when the government imposed a duty of $5 a gallon, besides heavily taxing the retail dealers. Legislators of those days were eager to check the consumption of whiskey in the interests of temperance. Alas, for their fond hopes. The trade became absolutely unprofitable except to the unscrupulous and the criminal classes, who began smuggling on the largest scale; to such an extent, indeed, and with such violence that the revenue officers found it impossible to prevent it, and the Act having thus become a dead letter it was repealed in 1752 and a lower duty substituted.

Ireland, as usual, had to wait for repeal, with the result that although in one year 10,000,000 gallons were sold, only 3,000,000 paid duty, indicating that 7,000,000 gallons were smuggled. Illicit distillation became so extensive that the lives of excisemen were no longer worth living, and as the people were on the side of the smugglers the country was in chronic rebellion. A curious result was that in 1824 the duty was actually made lower in Ireland and in Scotland than in England—a privilege that lasted till Mr. Gladstone equalized the tax by making it $2.50 a gallon. What glorious times for the whiskey drinker must those have been in the reign of Charles II., when only 8 cents per gallon represented the thirsty man's burden, for a few days, at least.

Fraser River Falling.

Yale, June 25.—The Fraser has fallen two feet since yesterday morning.

Canada, Company's Dividend.

London, June 25.—The Canadian company has declared a dividend of 21 shillings per share. Last year there were 272 more acres of land sold than during 1908, and the receipts increased £1,876.

Injured by Dynamite Explosion.

Kelowna, B. C., June 25.—A man named H. Munroe met with a serious accident as the result of an explosion of dynamite across the lake from here today. The force of the explosion was felt for miles. The poor fellow is almost cut to pieces, no hopes being held out for his recovery, although he is still conscious. The accident happened on government road construction.

RACING NEWS

MUDLARCS WILL HAVE AN INNING

Weather Conditions Overhead Expected to Be Fine But Track Will Be Heavy

CARD ONE OF BEST YET ARRANGED

Handicap Is Feature But Every Race Should Be Warmly Contested at Willows.

By J. B. Woodside

This dictionary is being spilled at the bewitching hour of one p.m., so it is hard to tell from here just what will be written on the weather menu for this afternoon, but if J. Pluvius stays as much down in the mouth as he was last night the Cambridge-Oxford boatrace won't have anything on the happenings at the Willows race track today.

And it will be all on a Saturday too. The programme committee has arranged a bill of fare for turfites that, if the sun is only shining, will rival the efforts of the proprietors of Belmont park. If Old Sol only shows his face about nine o'clock this morning it will be hard to beat what is in store for those who like to watch the bangtalls go through their ps and qs.

Just cast your peeps across the overnights for yourself if you can't take my word for it. From start to finish there is no use trying to get away from this stereotyped phrase: every move will be a picture. Of course the mudlarks will have the best of it, but what is the use of having equine mariners if you don't give them a chance to box their compasses once in a while. Mudders are as safe to play with as any other breed of horses and sometimes are a whole lot more consistent. There is an old saying about "once a Mason always a Mason," but just for the time being let it read "once a Mudder always a Mudder" and you won't be far away from the cashing spot when the numbers have been slipped into place.

First a Dandy

To begin at the beginning, the only legitimate starting place. A bunch of three-year-olds will be asked to ramble over the seven-eighths distance and you can paste it in your hat right now that there isn't a classier collection of one season old debutantes on the job than the same. In another column I have told you what I think will go away with the blue ribbon in this event, so I will not disfigure the dope in this writing. Only two horses in the list have shown an aversion for the wet going and you can tell their price on the slates which ones they are. Three superior navigators are included in the event and the others will splash if properly requested.

In the second we have Mr. Wheatcroft with a couple of starters from his St. James stable and although they may be suffering from the same ailment as Margaret Randolph was yesterday they should be worth a small investment just for sentiment. Right here you may raise up and say that there is no sentiment in the racing business, but I beg to differ with you. I once had a friend who knew a fellow who had a girl in Germany named Josie. This same fellow has been banking on Josie S ever since the meeting opened. He hasn't cashed yet, but neither did Clocker until he broke the Bank of England and a few other similar institutions. But then there is Burleigh. Look out for him. This bird can drink water without rusting his pipes and when it comes to mud I can only say that he was raised in a pig pen until big enough to wear a saddle.

Miners to Have Inning

The little mining town of Westminster will be honored in the third when an aristocratic aggregation of babies will face Starter Weber. Among them are numbered most of the best youngsters at the Willows. There is Virgil Cassie and Napa Nick and Regina Arvi and several others, but you won't do any worse than lose if you pin your faith to the Schilling entry. The boys that sit on the fence in the early hours and are awake when everybody else is asleep will tell you that Virgil can't step when the track is heavy, but I think differently.

There is some discussion as to whether the fourth was named after a potentate or a prominent hotel in town, but whatever inspired its title, it represents one of Judge Leighton's best efforts in the handicapping line. For speed, class, knowledge and skill you would have to go to the racing centers of a distant land to get a race that would compare more than favorably with it. The weights have been assigned with a niceness, which will certainly make the event one of the most closely contested of the season. The weather man must have been in a conspiracy with the owners concerned in this event as the horses entered are almost all able to negotiate the six furlong distance in respectable time in the mire and the ones that cannot will be easily identified. For the winner just glance at that little one column box in another column.

The remaining two numbers on the programme are creditably substantial and will at least leave a good taste in the mouths of those who are present to see them inaugurated.

Leach Cross meets Dick Hyland today at San Francisco in a 25-round bout.

At the big N.P.A.A.O. regatta to be held on Lake Washington next month there will be crews from all over the coast. Seattle, Portland, Vancouver, Victoria and Nelson will be represented. The latest entry was that of the San Diego, California crew who will take part in the senior fours.

Scott Calhoun received a telegram this morning from the trustees of the Alexandra cup at Vancouver, stating that the races for the cup this year would be best two out of three, as in the two previous contests. Mr. Calhoun and Ted Geary went to Vancouver last Saturday night to see if the contest for the cup could not be made best three out of five, as is the custom in all other cup races. But the Canadians would not listen to any change, so the Spirit II, and the Alexandra will compete in Seattle next month, best two out of three races for the cup.

Bobby Kerr, the great Canadian sprinter will meet Reggie Walker soon at the English championships. They will run both the 100 yards as well as the 220. This will be a case of the world's two greatest sprinters toiling the mark. Kerr is the favorite in the 100, while the South African is expected to get away with the century sprint.

TECUMSEHS PLAY CHAMPS TODAY

Minto Cup Series Open at New Westminster This Afternoon

Today is the day of all days on the banks of the Fraser river, for the Tecumsehs are going to attempt to take away the Minto cup as well as the world's lacrosse championship from the New Westminster Indians. The Indians say that New Westminster people think they have the coveted silverware chained to stay, but that they expect to break a link in today's battle.

"What we have we'll hold." This is the expression on the lips of the entire town of New Westminster and the whole burg is unanimous in the opinion that the Minto cup will not leave the sunny banks of the Fraser. Today's battle will be the first of a series of two, the concluding game taking place Tuesday next.

Teams Compared

The two team average up pretty well as to weight and skill and the contest should be a hard one. The officials selected so far for the first game are Ald. Tom McConnell, Montreal referee, and Lionel York, Vancouver, judge of play. New Westminster has selected J. Johnston and H. C. Major as timekeepers and Ald. Jardine as umpire. The Tecumsehs officials have not yet been selected.

The following is the probable line up for Saturday's match with the weights of the players:

RACING GOSSIP

The sharpshooters are wishing from the depths of their very souls that a certain overnight price maker was a millionaire and had nothing else to do but cater to their wants. Forty to one on Lady Elizabeth. Wouldn't that give you the blind staggers?

Jack Maley ate three meals again yesterday. If this keeps up he will send the white vest to the laundry and give the man with the shears another job.

Roy Dillet has gotten the idea out of his head that he can qualify as a deep sea mariner. Last night he was going to show Captain Kidd something about walking on the water but the ship sunk at the eighth pole.

Again I hate to mention any names but I wish I had put one of those markers on the Lady Elizabeth excursion down Government street.

Barney Flaherty won his very first out with his new acquisition Traffic. He got the price of the animal out of that Galene Gale killing and is still ringing with luck. Thirty years ago out winning a heat deserves something, however.

BASEBALL BITS

The Red Sox and Tigers are having a merry race for the base running honors in the American league.

Hugh Duffy is forcing his Providence team to the front. This might be expected from a hustling leader like Duffy.

Bill Dineen is doing a little scouting for St. Louis. He was in Waterbury last week to size up Schuman, a pitcher.

Lajoie makes a bluff as if he intended to hunt about every time he goes to the bat, for the purpose of drawing the infielders closer.

Umpire Silk O'Loughlin is receiving the glad hand from the spectators on every ground in the American league circuit. The arbitrator is certainly a big attraction.

A man batting at a .300 clip these days in major league company is a top notcher. The American league has none and the National league thirteen players above this big mark.

Sharpe, of Newark, is said to be the man on whom Hugh Jennings has his eye for first basemen for the Tigers. He has made an offer and nobody is quite sure the deal is not already closed.

What promises to be a real innovation in the league is the American association next season. Every ground in the league will be equipped with a clubhouse for the visiting teams.

Hugh Jennings will go to Ireland after the baseball season closes, and the rumor is persistent that it will be his honeymoon.

Outfielder Tris Speaker, of Boston, leads the American league in long hits with six doubles, three triples and a home run, fifteen extra bases.

The Giants' Indian backdrop, "Chief" Meyers, catches as if he enjoyed it. He also whizzes the ball around the bases in a way to make runners keep close to the cushions.

Overall is the hardest working pitcher in the National league. He has pitched 106 innings so far. The toiler of the American league is Frank Smith, who has already worked 137 innings.

Washington: First in war, first in peace—and in the American league.

Mitchell, the old Boston American player, is now catching for Toronto and practically leading the Eastern league at the bat.

Bush, of Detroit, is the leading run getter of the American league, with 29 to his credit.

MAY GIVE A LARGER SUBSIDY

Ottawa Wants Improvement in Canadian-Mexican S. S. Line

COMPLAINTS ABOUT PRESENT SERVICE

Dominion Sends Official to Investigate Trade Prospects on Tehuantepec Route

That a larger subsidy will be given by the Dominion government to the Canadian Mexican S.S. Line with the object of bettering the service between this port and the west coast of Mexico seems an assured fact. The amount of the increase is not known definitely, but it will probably mean some $25,000, making the total subsidy given by Canada $75,000.

At Ottawa the demand has grown insistent for an improvement in the Canadian Mexican Steamship Line. The company has promised to do its utmost. Complaints have reached headquarters that the service is not all that might be desired, and it is understood that it is upon this account that Mr. Walrod, one of the directors of the line is now in the Old Country, with a view to getting steamers to replace the Georgia and the Lonsdale.

The Dominion government has despatched an official from Montreal to make the trip on the Elder-Dempster steamer Borneo to supervise a test shipment of freight between Montreal and Victoria by way of the Tehuantepec Railroad and the Canadian-Mexican line on the Pacific. It is claimed that Canadian goods can be brought from Eastern Canada to British Columbia by this route at a cost of 20 per cent. less than overland via the C. P. R. and experiments are being made with trial shipments.

There is a demand at Ottawa for the improvement of the Canadian-Mexican steamship line on the Pacific. The company has promised to make improvements, and one of four steamers now under consideration will be brought to Victoria. An Ottawa despatch says there is much complaint regarding the services on the Pacific subsidized by the Dominion Government. So long as complaints respecting this service were confined to British Columbia, the Government could afford to ignore them, but recently grain from Saskatchewan and Alberta has been seeking an outlet via the Tehuantepec railway to the Atlantic seaboard.

The rival steamers, Ella, of the Jebson line, and Georgia, of the Canadian-Mexican line, sailed from the outer wharf yesterday, the former via San Francisco and the Georgia bound to Guaymas and the ports of the Mexican coast to Salina Cruz. The Jebson liner, which has improved since her previous visit, will continue her voyage to Corinto and the ports of Central America in the revolutionary belt. The Georgia is loaded with lumber and general merchandise and the Ella has a cargo of lumber, flour, and general freight loaded at Seattle. No passengers were taken on the Canadian-Mexican steamer while the Jebson boat

Winnipeg, June 25.—The court of appeals this morning gave judgment in the reserve case against Miss Mary Glynn, manager of D. H. Tolman, the money lender's business here. She was charged with a breach of the money lender's act and was found guilty. She will now come up before Judge McDonald for sentence.

MARINE INQUIRY NEARING END

Nothing Against Capt. Gaudin Develops at Yesterday's Session

The inquiry into the charges made against Captain James Gaudin, local agent of the Marine and Fisheries department, are nearing a conclusion. Yesterday a session was held before Commissioner Gregory, when an investigation of the amount of coal supplied to the different lighthouses and stations on the coast was made. The object was to make the lights shipped to the different points tally with the amounts ordered from the coaliery. In every instance these were found to be correct, and the statements to this effect submitted by Captain Jones proved satisfactory to the Commissioner.

The only point which remains to be cleared up before the investigation comes to a conclusion is the disappearance of two coal buckets from the yard of the department. Witnesses have alleged that these were taken from the yards, brought to a store in the city, and subsequently taken from the latter place to Captain Gaudin's house. The receipt for these buckets, when they were first acquired by the department, has been produced, but there is no record of their disappearance, and Mr. Nodok, whose store they were said to have been brought to, denies ever having received them. When this matter is cleared up the investigation will close. It is expected that Commissioner Gregory's finding will be forthcoming within the next ten days.

AGED TEACHERS ABOARD KAGA MARU

American Women Who Gained Fame in Japanese Educational Circles

Among the passengers who arrived on the Japanese steamer Kaga Maru, on Wednesday were two women who have gained fame in educational circles of Japan. After twenty-five years, they are returning to their native land with words of earnest praise for the educational progress made by the Japanese, and to spend their declining years in America. Miss Isabella Graham Prince, aged 80 years, and her sister, Mary Gray Prince, aged 76, whose efforts to educate Orientals according to the standards of the Anglo-Saxon, has brought them notable recognition, are names that have become known throughout the Orient.

Involved with their long term of teaching service, prominent incidents include the training of Princess Fushimi, the daughters of seven ministers of state for Japan, and an almost endless number of the Japanese nobility.

Companion passengers arriving from Japan tell that the departure of the Misses Prince from Yokohama, with the sailing of the Kaga Maru, attracted a demonstration for saying a farewell that was remarkable. A throng of people estimated at more than 2,000, representing every female educational institution of the empire, were on hand to wish the departing teachers bon voyage.

"After thirty years of work in female educational institutions in the United States, we went to Japan at the request of representatives of the Japanese government," said Miss Mary Prince. "We were at the time located in San Francisco, to which city we had moved from Portland, Maine, to engage in educational work. Our stay abroad has been most pleasant. We found the Japanese people as a class yearning for education along the lines of the American system, and from the first our reception was joined in by the highest families. I am glad to say that it continued throughout the length of our absence from home, and we return with much regret at having to sunder many earnest friendships.

Of course, we are getting old. Sister Isabella is 80. She does not look it, but a condition of wonderful good health with which we were both blessed is one of the emoluments of being cast with pleasant associations. Limitless were the expressions of appreciation bestowed upon us. I was saying to sister Isabella recently that we would probably have come home sooner were it not for the fear that to pay customs duty on the scores of gifts received by us would take more money than we possessed."

In spite of their advanced age, the travellers' voyage presented no circumstances of discomfort. They anticipate being able to travel extensively over the United States, and they hope for opportunities to relate that personal association with the Japanese has convinced them that Japan is entitled to receive every consideration as a friendly, social, and commercial neighbor.

CAPTAIN OF SENATOR RESIGNS COMMAND

Accepts Position in Marine Department of G. T. P. at Prince Rupert

Tacoma, Wash., June 25.—After an active and efficient service as mariner extending over a period of forty years, Captain C. P. Kinney has resigned the command of the British ship Senator, and retired from the sea to accept a position in the marine department of the Grand Trunk Pacific railway at Prince Rupert, B.C.

MYSTERY IS CLEARED UP

Submerged Object Off West Coast Not Wreck of H.M.S. Condor

The mystery of the submerged object off the coast at Long Beach has been solved, and instead of being the wreck of H. M. S. Condor it proved to be a reef. D. G. S. Keestel during a recent trip up the coast made soundings at the point in question, and established beyond any doubt the nature of the submerged object.

Thus the mystery of the lost Condor, which had become a subject of revived interest during the last few weeks, is still no nearer solution. The spar and buoy, washed ashore from the lost war sloop some years ago in the neighborhood of Long Beach lent great probability to the hull of the ill-fated vessel being in that vicinity. That probability has vanished, and there seems only too great reason to believe that what remains of the Condor has been battered to pieces by the waves, or is drifting, secure from human interruption in the fathomless depths of the ocean.

SMALL FLEET IN SECOND NOME SAILING

Light Demand for Tonnage at the Far North

The light demand for tonnage in the Nome trade this year following the first sailings will reduce the second Nome fleet materially. The Senator has been taken off the second sailing altogether, and to fill in the gap, the freighter Montana, which sailed from San Francisco this spring and is now discharging at St. Michael, will be advanced from July 20 to July 10. The Senator is due at Seattle tonight or Sunday. The Olympia and Edith are on the way to Seattle from St. Michael, having left there Monday. They should reach

Seattle Tuesday. The St. Croix's wire she cannot communicate. The San Mateo and Falcon are dispatched at St. Michael. The Ohio was expected to leave Nome for Seattle yesterday.

The St. Helens has arrived at St. Michael after proceeding up the inside passage, leaving Seattle June 5 and towing a barge from Cordova for the Yukon Transportation and Trading Company.

NEEDS CANADIAN BOARD

Grand Trunk Affairs as Viewed by London Times' Financial Expert

London, June 25.—The Times today gives first place in its financial supplement to a three-column article advocating a Grand Trunk Canadian board, and says that if the revitalized and vastly extended system is to hold its own at competitive points, and it is necessary to meet larger emergencies, a Canadian board must be appointed without delay. Railway men and great financiers, without exception, the Times declares, scoff at the idea that so vast a concern could be effectively controlled from London. The Canadian Pacific Railway control may probably be ultimately transferred from Montreal to Winnipeg to avoid delay. Similarly the Grand Trunk executive must be located at the real centre of gravity of the system, which is certainly not London. Canadians, the Times says, will not invest in the stock of a railway administered by an English directorate for their own benefit, and Trunk shareholders should insist that their sovereignty be delegated without undue delay to a Canadian board with full administrative powers.

NEW LAKE STEAMER

Northern Navigation Company's New Vessel Heartily Welcomed at Port Arthur

Port Arthur, Ont., June 25.—The Northern Navigation Company's new steamer Harmonic arrived at 11 o'clock this morning, somewhat later than was expected, being delayed by festivities at the Soo, but was given a grand reception as the big steamer came up the bay and through the breakwater, the locks and shore being crowded with wildly cheering people. The boat was greeted also with a salute from all the boats in the harbor and by the city band on the dock. The majestic steamer, the finest ever seen on the upper lakes, presented an inspiring appearance, bearing out every good word that had been said of her.

After docking and discharging the passengers a deputation of citizens, headed by Mayor Matthews and the alderman, boarded the boat and read and presented to Capt. R. D. Foote a handsome illuminated address of welcome. He was also presented with a fine silk Canadian ensign. Speeches in reply were made by Capt. Foote, C. H. Nicholson, traffic manager of the company, G. T. Bell, of Montreal, assistant passenger traffic manager of the Grand Trunk, and L. Sanford, secretary of the Trans-Atlantic conference, New York.

FIGHT AGAINST PAPER DUTIES

Senator Aldrich Promises New Amendment Regarding Retaliation

Washington, June 25.—The retaliatory provisions of the wood pulp and print paper paragraphs of the tariff bill being referred to by Senator Clapp today, Mr. Aldrich indicated that the finance committee still had that matter under consideration, and expected to report a substitute that would prove satisfactory to all interests concerned. This statement was in response to the claims of the Minnesota senator that by the proposed retaliation against Canada in case that country should provide for an export tax, the United States would punish its own people by adding a still greater duty. Senator Brown, who led the recent fight in the senate for free wood pulp and print paper, today offered two amendments which would have the effect of eliminating the automatic retaliatory features of the committee amendments, and make retaliation depend upon an order of the president, allowing the rate of duty to remain as in the committee's substitute. Mr. Aldrich finally agreed to take up these substitutes for final action tomorrow.

CRAZED BY LOVE

Japanese in Vancouver Sets Affections on Young White Woman—Now in Law's Toils

Vancouver, June 25.—Unrequited love for a daughter of a prominent east end family evidently has driven S. Tanaka, a Japanese, insane. He was arrested several days ago and held on a charge of vagrancy, on complaint of the young lady's father, who formerly employed the Japanese as household domestic. When his attentions to the girl were first noticed, he was discharged. It was necessary several times to kick him out of the place, and once before he was arrested. These troubles did not result in any abatement of the flame, and he continued to worry the girl and her people by his attentions. He would write endearing epistles nearly every day, as he has a fair education. Of late he took to going to the house at all hours of the night, and he was arrested as a matter of precaution. Physicians have examined him, but are unable to decide whether he is sufficiently insane to commit to the asylum. He seems to be all right on all questions except those relating to the girl and her affections. In the police court this morning the case was again adjourned for a day.

Aeronaut's Long Drop.

Tacoma, June 25.—F. Kilroy, a Seattle aeronaut, broke his left foot yesterday just before making an ascent. He was 1,000 feet from the earth when, being unnerved, he pulled the wrong cord, and began to fall with the parachute still furled. A crowd of 5,000 watched him, and many women fainted. He landed among the branches of a fir tree, which broke his fall, and, though badly hurt, he will recover.

CZAR FOR STOCKHOLM

Leaves Russian Waters on Imperial Yacht for First of Three Foreign Visits

St. Petersburg, June 25.—Emperor Nicholas left Russian waters on the imperial yacht Standart today for Stockholm, on the first of the three foreign visits he will pay this summer. The trip to Sweden is a return of the visit to King Gustav to St. Petersburg, at the time of the marriage of Prince Wilhelm, of Sweden. No high policies will be discussed at Stockholm, and the fact that Emperor Nicholas is going almost directly from Sweden to Poland to be present at the dedication of a monument to the Russo-Swedish dead who fell in the battle of Poltava, two hundred years ago, is taken as an evidence that the ancient Russo-Swedish enmities have been completely blotted out.

WANT TO EXPORT LOGS

Movement on Foot to Secure Another Suspension of Provincial Prohibitory Law

Vancouver, June 25.—There is a movement developing in logging and lumbering circles to induce the provincial government to again suspend the law which prohibits the export of cedar logs from British Columbia. A meeting will be held soon to discuss the question.

MAY BE LEON LING

Chinaman Answering to Description Has Sailed on Steamer Arizonian

Special to The Evening Post. Norfolk, W. Va., June 25.—The Hawaiian Steamship Company steamer Arizonian, which sailed from Norfolk yesterday bound for San Francisco has aboard Leon Ling, or Lang, who signed as a member of the vessel's Chinese crew in New York June 11.

He left on the steamer June 12 for Lambert's Point where she yesterday finished taking on a full cargo of government coal for the Pacific Coast. A detective followed him to Lambert's Point but arrived at the coal piers just after the Arizonian had left on her long voyage to San Francisco. The detective was told that the Chinaman for whom he was searching was aboard the outgoing steamer.

The name of Leon Ling or Lang appears among the list of the crew of the Arizonian which was filed by the master of the steamer in the office of the collector of customs here, while the age of Elsie Sigel's murderer is given from New York as 35 years, the age of Leon Ling or Lang aboard the Arizonian is given 37.

One More Arrest.

New York, June 25.—The police of Newton, Long Island, today arrested a Chinaman answering in general way the description of Leon Ling. He seemed anxious to avoid observation and on him was found a small revolver and a box of cartridges. He said he was Harry Kolo, 36 years old, but gave no address. Detectives from this city were detailed to inspect the prisoner.

The fact that the telegram sent to the parents of Elsie Sigel from Washington on the night of her disappearance reassuring them of her safety and announcing her early return had been sent by Leon Ling, the young Chinaman whom the police charge with her murder, was established today by Detective Van Wagner, who returned from Washington armed with the original of the telegram.

Detective Van Wagner was able to compare the handwriting of the missing Chinaman with that on the telegram form and the similarity is marked. The detective also found a number of persons who had seen Leon in the National hotel Washington, and all doubt has been removed. The police and district attorney's office have been diligently running down clues which at first seemed to indicate that Leon might have been in hiding in some dark and impenetrable corner of Chinatown, but nothing has come from them.

The now established presence of Leon in Washington subsequent to the murder makes the less likely of belief in the stories of his having remained in hiding here, however, as the authorities doubt that having once left this city Leon would return.

J. P. Morgan at Work

New York, June 25.—A Paris despatch to the Times says that J. P. Morgan arrived in Paris on Tuesday and immediately took up personally the matter of listing United States Steel on the bourse. Mr. Morgan's pride is believed to be much hurt by the apparent failure of the plan. He has now spent several days of masterful activity with surprisingly fruitful results. It appears that he has induced M. Cailaux, minister of finance, to withhold the announcement of his decision for the present, and to listen to the views of M. Sergent, under-controller of the currency, who believes he has found a means of reaching the legal difficulties without waiting for new legislation.

TRIP CALLED OFF

Sixth Regiment Has Not Been Given Permission to Go to Seattle on Dominion Day

Vancouver, June 25.—The announcement was made today that the trip of the Sixth Regiment, D.C.O.R., to Seattle on Dominion day has been called off. Colonel Boulbee stated that the reason why the regiment will not take the expected excursion is that the United States military authorities have failed to notify the Ottawa officials that permission was given for the local regiment to enter Washington state. Permission was asked for some time ago.

Sitting on Castro.

Caracas, Venezuela, June 25.—The Venezuela congress yesterday adopted a joint resolution depriving Cipriano Castro, the former president of the republic of the title of "Restorer," on the grounds of his recent criminal indictment and that the use of this designation is unconstitutional. Furthermore, Castro's action in signing the Washington protocol of 1903 was censured.

Pittsburg is to have a handsome new theatre, to be built on the site of the Boyer hotel.

BLOODHOUNDS ON BANDITS' TRAIL

Dogs Brought From Spokane in Service—Keen Search Kept Up

Kamloops, B. C., June 25.—Bloodhounds are now on the trail of the train robbers wanted for holding up C. P. R. train No. 97 near Ducks on Monday night. Two of the massive man hunters were brought in from Spokane last night, and were taken to the scene of the hold-up early today by Chief Constable Fenwick.

That the bandits will be captured seems now more certain than ever, for the police have located a most important clue during the past twenty-four hours, and they are working it hard.

A detachment of mounted police which came in yesterday from Regina has been subdivided into two sections. One has been sent up the North Thompson river on the east side, and will follow a triangular course, cutting across from Louise creek, coming back by the north side of the South Thompson. The other division will go down through the Nicola country. The theory that the hold-up men are residents of the district is gathering fresh strength, and a clue was developed which may result in their apprehension. For almost four miles east of the scene of the hold-up the men in their escape walked along the railroad track in an effort to throw the officers of the law off the trail. From there their tracks go in two or three directions, and each is being carefully searched by Indians and mounted officers.

Near the river, and not far from the scene of the hold-up, the Indians have found a place in the long grass where one of the bandits must have secreted himself. The man had lain there for several hours, a close scrutiny of the spot would suggest. The find is important, inasmuch as it furnishes the police with some idea of the build of one of the men engaged in the crime.

Sergeant Murray, who is directing the search for the fugitives, feels confident that they will be captured within 48 hours. He says that the bulk of the work will devolve upon the detectives, for the majority of the officers are inclined to favor the theory that the men live in the district. One man is already under suspicion, and the police are searching certain records affecting him which may have an important bearing on the case.

It seems almost impossible that the men will escape, because the country is covered so thoroughly. From the scene of the hold-up right through to the boundary every point is guarded and everywhere men are seeking the fugitives. It is one well known fact that the bandits have a good knowledge of the country, according to certain circumstances that have developed. The Indians are rendering peculiarly good service, and the police look to them to find the much wanted men. With a double reward of $7,500 hung up the searching parties are putting forth a special effort to accomplish their end.

PROTEST ENTERED IN AUTO CONTEST

Seattle, June 25.—Declaring that Ford car No. 2, which arrived at Seattle first in the ocean-to-ocean automobile race, is not entitled to the Robert Guggenheim trophy cup nor the $2,000 first prize money, formal protest was made yesterday against the award of the cup to the Ford.

The principal charge against the Ford is: At Fort Steele, Wyo., where the wagon bridge was washed out, the two Ford cars were allowed to cross the railroad bridge by virtue of special permits, while the Shawmut was refused.

Second—That the Ford No. 2 broke the rules regarding the actual driving. In the Snoqualmie Pass it is alleged an employee of the Ford branch at Seattle met the racers and proceeded to get into the drivers seat and operate the car. Later the regular driver, who had sent the car across the continent went back at the wheel.

Third—That the Ford No. 2 arrived in Seattle with a new axle, one that had not been stamped in New York city, thus breaking the rules against putting in new axles if the old one had worn out.

The attorney who filed the protest and the drivers of the Shawmut car decline to discuss their complaint and the details will not be known until the protest committee hears the evidence.

FIRING PRACTICE OF NO. 1 COMPANY.

The preliminary firing practice of No. 1 company of the Fifth Regiment with service ammunition with the twelve-pounder guns of the batteries at Black Rock and Dunze Head was held last night when the artillerymen fired a number of rounds at a floating target in tow of the tug Beryl, making good practice. A band concert was held later at the camp in the dry-dock yard.

No. 2 and 3 companies will have their preliminary firing practice with service ammunition tonight when the big guns at Fort Macaulay will boom. Tomorrow afternoon the regimental sports will be held on Macaulay Plain. A good programme has been arranged and it is expected the militiamen will have a gala day. The regimental band will be present and will give a concert during the afternoon. It is expected there will be a large attendance of spectators.

On Sunday a drum-head church service will be held and afterward the annual muster parade for inspection by Capt. Elliston, R.C.A., will take place.

PRINCESS OF WALES CAUGHT THE ERROR

London, June 25.—Fleet street now recognizes the princess of Wales as a "celebrity" of the present. The royal highness recently visited the offices of a well known publishing firm, and was keenly interested in inspecting the sheets of one of their publications which were shown to her as they came straight from the printing machines. She was the first to detect that there was an error on one of the pages which had escaped the notice of the editorial staff, and pointed this out to those in attendance on her. Orders were at once given for the necessary alterations to be made, and, though a considerable expenditure was involved in the process, a new plate was cast. Her Royal Highness incidentally receiving an insight into the expeditious methods of the expert hands entrusted with this important work.

HON. SYDNEY FISHER THINKS MILK DEFAMED

Toronto, June 25.—At the afternoon session of the international council of women yesterday, Hon. Sydney Fisher made a plea for the character of the Canadian cow. He protested against the statement that the majority of cases of tuberculosis are traceable to infection through milk. At the same time he did not wish to say that the cow which was suffering from tuberculosis should be used indiscriminately for human food.

Lady Aberdeen delivered an address on the campaign against tuberculosis, particularly in Ireland, and was followed by Dr. Montizambert, director of public health for the Dominion, who wanted a campaign against indiscriminate kissing, especially of babies. Something of the life of thousands of girls in the East who work with their hands in factories and mills, was told at the evening meeting.

CHILD IS BLOWN FROM MOTHER'S ARM

MANY INJURED IN TROLLEY COLLISION

Wilmington, Del., June 25.—While between thirty and forty persons, all residents of Chester, Pa., were injured in a head-on collision on the Wilmington and Chester Traction Company's trolley line last night, only one, Miss Louisa Atkins, is thought to be fatally hurt. She has a compound fracture of each leg. Ten others are still in the local hospitals.

The injured persons are members of the Trinity Methodist Episcopal Church of Chester, who were on an excursion to Cheltop Park here. The accident was caused by a car in the lead losing its trolley pole, and stopping, with the result that the second car crashed into it.

SELECTS QUEER PREY

Jules Ford in Jail on Charge of Attempting to Do Up Senators and Congressmen

Washington, June 25.—Jules Ford, alias Waterbury, alias Fritz Hunter, indicted here on January 4 last on the charge of securing money from senators, congressmen and Government officials, allegedly by false pretences, was today ordered committed to jail by Justice Gould in the Criminal Court. It is alleged that Waterbury presented himself to those whom he had approached as an Associated Press man. He promised, it is said, not only to exploit them in a book which he was preparing, but also through the newspapers which have membership in the Associated Press.

Waterbury was arrested in New York after a hunt which lasted several months, and which embraced two continents, yesterday, and was brought here today. He was set at liberty on a $2,000 bond, which was forfeited several days ago.

OSCAR LEWISOHN WAS NOT IN ACCIDENT

New York, June 25.—A cable message from Oscar Lewisoohn, the husband of Edna May, reported last night to have been killed in an automobile accident on the European continent, was received today by Martin Vogel, attorney for the Lewisoohn family here. The cablegram read: "Accot. England. No foundation in report. Both well. Oscar." Mr. Vogel stated that efforts were being made to locate Jesse Lewisoohn, brother of Oscar, who is known to be on the continent. He was thought to be in southern France. Mr. Vogel said, and from messages that had already been received it is not thought that he could have been in the vicinity of the reported casualty.

WEATHER MARS THE ROYAL FETE

London, June 25.—The official celebration of the birthday of King Edward, which takes place today, has been robbed of most of its spectacular features by the inclement weather. These decisions were made necessary by the heavy rains.

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET.

(Furnished by F. W. Stevenson & Co.)
New York, June 25.—The Western Maryland was noted for its weakness and reading for its strength during today's session. The bulk of the market was very irregular, but the undertone was firm. The fear in regard to a hardening in money rates is being gradually dispensed of among traders. The desire to increase their commitments to a very large extent is not pronounced at this time, in fact, a great many are satisfied to see values remain around present levels, until the news is of a character to create a large outside interest. Reports from the floor indicate that a sharp rise in reading is highly probable.

CHICAGO GRAIN AND PROVISIONS.

(Furnished by F. W. Stevenson & Co.)
Chicago, June 25.—Wheat—Not since the bull campaign in May wheat was at its height has there been such remarkable operations noted in the pit as today. This strength cannot well be attributed to any one cause. An advance of 1/2 to 2d in the English market this morning, even greater increase in car loadings, the small Argentine shipments; the confirmation of export sales of over a million bushels in all positions yesterday, gave the great strength on opening trades. The market was well sustained later on buying based on wet weather for harvests in the southwest and continued reports from many northwestern states. The news of the day which started the bull market during the closing minutes of the session, was a report of 100 boatloads export business done here by one house and a rumor that export sales in all positions might be many times as great. It was as if with the short crops ahead, and the Argentine crop in doubt, Europe making an effort to secure breadstuffs from our new winter wheat harvest, the advance is too fast to last, but if present conditions continued it will be well to get long some wheat on first good setback.
